P R E F A C E .

The object in offering this work, which will be the initial volume of a proposed annual publication, is to comply with a long-felt necessity to spread among the people an amount of information concerning our own State, the great Prairie State of Illinois, which will be most interesting to all, and very valuable and almost indispensable to many. The information contained in this book was very carefully collected, partly from the different State departments and from the county officials, and partly from the heads of the different State institutions and from other reliable sources.

The intention of the compiler to issue the first publication of THE ILLINOIS HAND-BOOK as early as 1870, was not finally decided upon until about eight weeks before its completion, and therefore it could not be made as complete as desirable, but it will undoubtedly be acceptable for the present, and until the next issue is published, and will be, as intended, a valuable book of reference for lawyers, county officers, business men, and the public in general.

The book is arranged in two parts. Part I. gives some interesting information regarding our National Government, while Part II. is exclusively devoted to the State of Illinois and its government, accompanied by the portraits of the present State officers, engravings of the new State House and National Lincoln Monument, now being constructed in Springfield; of the former Home of Abraham Lincoln, the Soldiers' Orphans' Home, the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, the Illinois Industrial University, and of other State Institutions, and by three maps giving the Counties and the Senatorial and Representative Districts of Illinois.

The information contained in this work regarding the different State, county, and other officers, and the statistical information, is correct and reliable, up to the dates given in the proper places.

The thanks of the Compiler are due to the State officers; the Superintendents and Presidents of the different State Institutions; to Messrs. E. L. & W. L. Gross, compilers of the latest Statutes of Illinois; and to the Clerks of the different counties of the State, for furnishing valuable information for this book; also, to Jos. Wallace, Esq., for the historical sketch of Illinois.

FORMATION OF THE ORIGINAL UNION.

On Monday, the 5th of September, 1774, there were assembled at Carpenter's Hall, in the city of Philadelphia, a number of men who had been chosen and appointed by the several colonies in North America to hold a Congress for the purpose of discussing certain grievances imputed against the mother country. This Congress resolved, on the next day, that each colony should have one vote only. On Tuesday, the 2d July, 1776, the Congress resolved, "That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, Free and Independent States," etc., etc.; and on Thursday, the 4th of July, the whole Declaration of Independence having been agreed upon, it was publicly read to the people. Shortly after, on the 9th September, it was resolved that the words "United Colonies" should be no longer used, and that the "UNITED STATES OF AMERICA" should thenceforward be the style and title of the Union. On Saturday, the 15th November, 1777, "Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union of the United States of America" were agreed to by the State delegates, subject to the ratification of the State legislatures severally. Eight of the States ratified these articles on the 9th July, 1778; one on the 21st July; one on the 24th July; one on the 26th November of the same year; one on the 22d February, 1779; and the last one on the 1st of March, 1781. Here was a bond of union between thirteen independent States, whose delegates in Congress legislated for the general welfare, and executed certain powers so far as they were permitted by the articles aforesaid. The following are the names of the Presidents of the Continental Congress from 1774 to 1788 :

Peyton Randolph, Virginia .....	5th Sept., 1774
Henry Middleton, South Carolina.....	22d Oct., 1774
Peyton Randolph, Virginia.....	10th May, 1775
John Hancock, Massachusetts .....	24th May, 1776
Henry Laurens, South Carolina.....	1st Nov., 1777
John Jay, New York .....	10th Dec., 1778
Samuel Huntington, Connecticut.....	28th Sept., 1779
Thomas McKean, Delaware .....	10th July, 1781
John Hanson, Maryland.....	5th Nov., 1781
Elias Boundinot, New Jersey.....	4th Nov., 1782
Thomas Mifflin, Pennsylvania .....	3d Nov., 1783
Richard Henry Lee, Virginia .....	30th Nov., 1784
Nathaniel Gorham, Massachusetts.....	6th Jan., 1786
Arthur St. Clair, Pennsylvania.....	2d Feb., 1787
Cyrus Griffin, Virginia .....	22d Jan., 1788

The seat of government was established as follows: At Philadelphia, Pa., commencing September 5, 1774, and May 10, 1775; at Baltimore, Md., December 20, 1776; at Philadelphia, Pa., March 4, 1777; at Lancaster, Pa., September 27, 1777; at York, Pa., September 30, 1777; at Philadelphia, Pa., July 2, 1778; at Princeton, N. J., June 30, 1783; at Annapolis, Md., November 26, 1783; at Trenton, N. J., November 1, 1784; and at New York City, N. Y., Jan. 11, 1785.

On the 4th of March, 1789, the present Constitution, which had been adopted by a convention and ratified by the requisite number of States, went into operation.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these, are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established, should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly, all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while the evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But, when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having, in direct object, the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world :

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained ; and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature ; a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected ; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise ; the State remaining, in the mean time, exposed to all the danger of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States ; for that purpose, obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners ; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislature.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined, with others, to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment, for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentally, the powers of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coast, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections among us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction, of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions, we have petitioned for redress, in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts made by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them, by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in GENERAL CONGRESS assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the World for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which INDEPENDENT STATES may of right do. And, for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of DIVINE PROVIDENCE, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

CONSTITUTION

OF THE

---

WE, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

OF THE LEGISLATURE.

SEC. I. All legislative powers herein granted, shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Of the House of Representatives.

SEC. II. 1. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States; and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature.

Qualifications of Members.

2. No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years, and have been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall have been elected.

Apportionment of Representatives and Direct Taxes.—Census.

3. Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to the respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

Vacancies.

4. When vacancies happen in the representation from any State, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

Of their Officers—Impeachment.

5. The House of Representatives shall choose their Speaker, and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

Of the Senate.

SEC. III. 1. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six years, and each Senator shall have one vote.

Their Classes.

2. Immediately after they shall be assembled, in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class, at the expiration of the fourth year; and of the third class, at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year. And if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the Legislature of any State, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

Qualifications of the Senators.

3. No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

Of the Vice President.

4. The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

Of the Officers of the Senate.

5. The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

Of Impeachment.

6. The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside. And no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

7. Judgment, in case of impeachment, shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit, under the United States; but the party convicted shall, nevertheless, be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

Manner of Electing Members of Congress.

SEC. IV. 1. The times, places, and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed by each State, by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may, at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the place of choosing Senators.

Of the Meetings of Congress.

2. Congress shall assemble at least once in every year; and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

---

Powers of each House.

SEC. V. 1. Each House shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members; and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of the absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each House may provide.

Expulsion.

2. Each House may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Journals and Yeas and Nays.

3. Each House shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may, in their judgment, require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of members of either House, on any question, shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Of Adjournment.

4. Neither House, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Compensation, Privileges, and Incapacities of Members.

SEC. VI. 1. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective Houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Exclusion from Office.

2. No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased, during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either House during his continuance in office.

Revenue Bills.

SEC. VII. 1. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

Manner of Passing Bills, &amp;c.

2. Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to re-consider it. If, after such re-consideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be re-considered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless Congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Orders, Resolutions, and Votes.

3. Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment), shall be presented to the President of the United States, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be re-passed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of bills.

General Powers of Congress.

SEC. VIII. Congress shall have power :

1. To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

2. To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

3. To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes.

4. To establish a uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies, throughout the United States.

5. To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coins, and fix the standard of weights and measures.

6. To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States.

7. To establish post offices and post roads.

8. To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing, for limited times, to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries.

9. To constitute tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court.

10. To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations.

11. To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and waters.

12. To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer period than two years.

13. To provide and maintain a navy.

14. To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces.

15. To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrection and repel invasion.

16. To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the States, respectively, the appointment of officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress.

17. To exercise exclusive legislation, in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the authority of the Legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings; and

18. To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

Limitations of the Powers of Congress.

SEC. IX. 1. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

2. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

3. No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

4. No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

5. No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any State. No preference shall be given, by any regulation of commerce or revenue, to the ports of one State over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one State be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

6. No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

7. No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States: And no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign State.

Limitations of the Powers of the Individual States.

SEC. X. 1. No State shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque or reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

2. No State shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any State on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of Congress. No State shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty on tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another State, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

OF THE PRESIDENT.

Of the Executive Power.

SEC. I. 1. The executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and together with the Vice President, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Manner of Electing.

2. Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in Congress; but no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

Altered.—See amendments, Article XII.

3. The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot, for two persons, of whom one, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for President; and if no person have a majority, then, from the five highest on the list, the said House shall in like manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the President, the person having the greatest number of the votes of the electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the Senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the Vice President.

This clause is altogether altered and supplied by the XIIth amendment.

4. Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes, which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

Who May be Elected President.

5. No person, except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

See also as to the Vice President. See XIIth amendment, post.

In case of Removal, &c., of the President, his Powers to devolve upon the Vice President, &c.

6. In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President; and Congress may, by law, provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what officer shall then act as President, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

President's Compensation.

7. The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected; and he shall not receive, within that period, any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

8. Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

His Oath.

“I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States.”

Power and Duties of the President.

SEC. II. 1. The President shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States. He may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons, for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

Of making Treaties.

2. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the Senate present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, Judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But Congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper, in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

Power of Appointment.

3. The President shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

Further Powers and Duties.

SEC. III. He shall, from time to time, give to Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

Of Impeachment.

SEC. IV. The President, Vice President, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

OF THE JUDICIARY.

Of the Judicial Power.—Concerning the Judges.

SEC. I. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as Congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the Supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Extent of the Judicial Power.—This clause altered postea—See Amendments, Art. XI.

SEC. II. 1. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more States; between a State and citizens of another State, between citizens of different States; between citizens of the same State, claiming lands under grants of different States, and between a State, or the citizens thereof, and foreign States, citizens or subjects.

Of original and appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.

2. In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a State shall be a party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations, as Congress shall make.

Of trials for Crimes.

3. The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the State where the said crime shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the trial shall be at such place or places as Congress may by law have directed.

Of Treason.

SEC. III. 1. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

2. Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.<sup>3</sup>

OF STATE RECORDS.

SEC. I. Full faith and credit shall be given, in each State, to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other State. And Congress may, by general laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

OF CITIZENSHIP.

SEC. II. 1. The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States.

OF FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE.

2. A person charged in any State for treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another State, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having jurisdiction of the crime.

OF PERSONS HELD TO SERVICE.

3. No person held to service or labor in one State, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up, on the claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

OF THE ADMISSION OF NEW STATES.

SEC. III. 1. New States may be admitted by Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other State, nor any State be formed by the junction of two or more States or parts of States, without the consent of the Legislatures of the States concerned, as well as of Congress.

OF TERRITORIES.

2. Congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or any particular State.

OF STATE FORMS OF GOVERNMENT.

Republican Form of Government guaranteed to the several States.

SEC. IV. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the Legislature, or of the executive (when the Legislature can not be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

OF AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

1. Congress, whenever two-thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution; or, on the application of the Legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by Congress: Provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

OF THE PUBLIC DEBT.

SEC. I. 1. All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the confederation.

OF THE SUPREME LAW OF THE LAND.

SEC. II. This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby—anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL OATH AND RELIGIOUS TEST.

SEC. III. The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several State Legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by oath or affirmation, to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

RATIFICATION OF THE CONSTITUTION.

The ratification of the conventions of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the same.

AMENDMENTS.

The following articles proposed by Congress, in addition to and amendments of the Constitution of the United States, having been ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the States, are become a part of the Constitution :

First Congress, First Session, March 5, 1789.

Of the right of Conscience, freedom of the Press, &c.

ARTICLE 1. Congress shall make no laws respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or of the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

Of the right to bear Arms.

ART. II. A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

Of quartering Troops.

ART. III. No soldier shall in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Of the right to be secure from Search, &c.

ART. IV. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Of Indictments, Punishments, &c.

ART. V. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense, to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

Of Trial in Criminal Cases, and the Rights of a Defendant.

ART. VI. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

Of Trials in Civil Cases.

ART. VII. In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved; and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States than according to the rules of the common law.

Of Bails and Fines.

ART. VIII. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

Of Rights Reserved.

ART. IX. The enumeration, in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others, retained by the people.

Of Powers Reserved to the States.

ART. X. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

Third Congress, Second Session, December 2, 1793.

Of the Judicial Power.—See Art. 3, Sec. 2.

ART. XI. The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit, in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States, by citizens of another State, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign State.

Eighth Congress, First Session, October 17, 1803.

Manner of electing the President and Vice President.

ART. XII. The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for President and Vice President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves; they shall name, in their ballots, the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice President; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice President, and of the number of votes for each; which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed, to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate; the President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for President shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed. And if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest number, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately by ballot, the President; but in choosing the President, the vote shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice; and if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of a choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice President shall be the Vice President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President, shall be eligible to that of Vice President of the United States.

Slavery Prohibited.

ART. XIII. SEC. 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SEC. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

[The following article was proposed by Congress to the several States for their adoption as a part of the Constitution, and has been ratified by the State of Pennsylvania, and some of the other States; but had not, in March, 1825, been ratified by the number of States required by the fifth article of the Constitution, and is, therefore, as yet, no part of the Constitution of the United States:]

Eleventh Congress, Second Session, November 7, 1809.

Citizens not to receive Titles or Presents from Foreign Powers.

ART. XIII. If any citizen of the United States shall accept, claim, receive, or retain any title of nobility or honor, or shall, without the consent of Congress, accept and retain any present, pension, office, or emolument of any kind whatever, from any emperor, king, prince, or foreign power, such person shall cease to be a citizen of the United States, and shall be incapable of holding any office of trust or profit under them or either of them.

[The following amendments were passed by Congress, at the session of 1866, viz:]

ARTICLE XIV.

SEC. 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States. Nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SEC. II. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed; but whenever the right to vote at any election for electors of President and Vice President, or for United States Representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crimes, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in that State.

SEC. III. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; but Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SEC. IV. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for the payment of pensions and bounties for service in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned; but neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave, but all such debts, obligations, and claims shall be illegal and void.

ARTICLE XV.

SEC. I. The rights of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

SEC. II. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

[This amendment was passed by Congress February 27th, 1869, and has since been ratified by twenty-three States. It will undoubtedly become a law.]

PART II.

STATE OF ILLINOIS.

---

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF ILLINOIS.

---

[Written especially for this book, by Jos. Wallace, Esq.]

---

To write an elaborate history of Illinois, faithfully tracing its early settlement—its struggles for existence—its frontier wars and mobs—its growing and spreading population—its rising institutions of learning and charity—its extended system of internal improvements—its wonderful advances in political power and influence, in wealth and social development—and lastly its part in our recent civil convulsion, would require a large volume. Such a history remains to be written; and it may be hoped that, ere long, some gifted son of the Prairie State will undertake the work, and do ample justice to a subject fraught with such deep and varied interest.

In the limited space allotted to the writer of the present article, he can only give a succinct, and somewhat disconnected, outline of the history of this great commonwealth.

Illinois, the fourth State in point of wealth and population in the American Union, is centrally situated in the great valley of the Mississippi. It extends from about  $37^{\circ}$  to  $42^{\circ} 30'$  north latitude, and from  $87^{\circ} 35'$  to  $91^{\circ} 40'$  west longitude from Greenwich. Its extreme length is on the meridian of Cairo, being 378 miles. Its average breadth is about 150 miles, and its greatest breadth 210 miles. It contains 55,405 square miles, or 35,459,200 acres of land. Compared with other States, it has 10,000 more square miles than the great States of New York and Ohio, and is nearly as large as all the New England States taken together. Its surface is generally level or slightly undulating, and it has no elevation of more than eight hundred feet above the level of the sea.

The boundaries of Illinois, assigned by the act of Congress providing for her admission into the Union, passed April 18th, 1818, are as follows :

“Beginning at the mouth of the Wabash river, thence up the same, and with the line of Indiana to the northwest corner of said State; thence east with the line of the same State to the middle of Lake Michigan; thence north along the middle of said lake to north latitude  $42^{\circ}$  and  $30'$ ; thence west to the middle of the Mississippi river; thence down along the middle of that river to its confluence with the Ohio river; and thence up the latter river, along its northwestern shore, to the place of beginning.”

In the latter part of the 17th century, Illinois was first explored by the French missionaries and fur traders, and some forts and trading posts were established by them.

To Father Marquette, a bold, zealous, and indefatigable Jesuit missionary, is mainly due the honor of having discovered and explored the Mississippi river, and the country lying adjacent to its banks. It is true that De Soto, the Spanish adventurer, had succeeded, in 1541, in penetrating from Florida, through the dense wilderness of the South, to the lower waters of the Mississippi; but he died on its banks in the following year, and the shattered remnant of his expedition, after enduring incredible hardships, built themselves boats in which they sailed down the river, and returned to Cuba. Thus, if the Spanish had first seen and crossed the Mississippi, it was without knowing its name, or having any adequate idea of the vast country watered by it.

Early in June, 1673, Father Marquette, and his companion, Joliet, left the region of Green Bay, and made their way westward, through trackless forests, to the Wisconsin river. Here they embarked in two slender birch canoes, with five boatmen to row them, and commenced their memorable and perilous voyage. On the 15th of June they came in sight of the great “Father of Waters ;” and thence descended upon its broad bosom until they reached a point near the mouth of the Des Moines, where they landed and encamped. Discovering the tracks of Indians on the sandy shore, Marquette and Joliet left their boats, and followed the trail on the Iowa side in quest of the savages. Coming upon the Indian camp at the distance of some six miles from the river, they were presented with the calumet of peace, and hospitably entertained by those rude sons of the plains. They proved to be a part of a confederation of tribes, who passed under the collective name of “Illinois,” and who then occupied the greater portion of the Illinois country. The more warlike Iroquois, however, had driven them from their hunting-grounds in the northern districts.

After resting at this place for some days, and procuring much needed information, together with a new supply of provisions, Marquette and his associates bade adieu to their new found friends, and continued their descent of the mighty river. Passing the heights of Alton, the mouth of the turbid Missouri, and the site of St. Louis, their next landing was made at the mouth of the Ohio, which they mistook for the Wabash. From thence they sailed leisurely down until they reached the mouth of the Arkansas, in the vicinity of which De Soto is supposed to have previously crossed the Mississippi. The season being now well advanced, the heat oppressive, and the natives of the country hostilely inclined, they determined to proceed no further ; but rested for a time, and then began to retrace their steps. Entering the Illinois river on their return, they followed up its devious course as far perhaps as LaSalle, and from thence journeyed overland, via Chicago, back to Green Bay, at which place they arrived about the end of September. Marquette and Joliet had been absent about three months, and during that time they had traveled more than three thousand miles, through regions never before visited by white men. After this great journey, Marquette prosecuted his travels and labors among the aborigines of the Northwest for about two years, when he died and was buried somewhere upon the shore of Lake Michigan ; but the place of his interment is not determined.

In 1679, the brave and enterprising LaSalle—a name justly celebrated in the early annals of America—visited the Illinois country from Canada. His company consisted of Louis Hennepin, a Franciscan friar, and thirty-four men. They made their way to the southern end of Lake Michigan, up the Chicago river, and down the Des Plaines and the Illinois. They wintered on the banks of the latter stream, at Peoria lake, and built a fort there. They called this fort Creve Cœur, or Heart-break, either on account of the misfortunes they suffered here, or from the circumstance of its having been the site of a bloody battle between the Iroquois and Illinois Indians, in which the latter had been defeated with a loss of eight hundred warriors.

Leaving Father Hennepin with instructions to ascend the Mississippi to its source, LaSalle returned to Canada to obtain supplies and reinforcements. The Father departed from Creve Cœur with only two companions to carry out his instructions. He reached the Mississippi in March, 1680, and, according to his own account, not only ascended the river to the Falls of St. Anthony, but first descended it to its mouth. The story of his descent of the river, however, is generally discredited. LaSalle re-visited the country in 1683, and founded some villages and trading stations. He subsequently returned to France, and fitted out a new expedition with a view of establishing settlements near the mouth of the Mississippi. He set sail upon his ill-fated enterprise in the month of August, 1684. Steering too far west to reach the mouth of the Mississippi, he landed in a small bay which he named St. Louis, but which is now called St. Bernard. Losing one of his vessels at the entrance of this bay, he finally succeeded in landing his followers on the banks of the Guadalupe, in the present State of Texas, where he erected a fort. LaSalle made several attempts to reach Illinois by an overland route from this place, but the obstacles were too great to be surmounted. His death, which took place in the southwestern wilderness, was as tragic as his life had been heroic. He was treacherously waylaid and slain by one of his own men, and now sleeps in a nameless grave. The present city of LaSalle, as also the county, were so named in honor of him.

The oldest existing settlement in Illinois is Kaskaskia, situated on the river Kaskaskia, at the southern end of what is known as the American Bottom. It is said by some authorities to have been founded by Marquette, in 1673; but this is probably an error, arising out of the fact that he first visited the country in that year, and established a mission among the Indians of that name. It seems more probable that the town was founded by La-Salle on his second trip to Illinois, in the year 1683.

Following in the order of missionary succession after Marquette, came Fathers Alloney, Pinet, Rasles, Gravier, Marest, and others. Father Pinet founded Cahokia. He also preached with great success at Kaskaskia.

Other French settlers trod in the footsteps of these devoted and self-sacrificing priests, and, in process of time, considerable villages grew up in this genial region, facing the trading station which LaCledé had built on the western bank of the Mississippi, and called St. Louis. Many of the French intermarried with the Indians, and, assimilating themselves to their indolent habits, led easy and unambitious lives. These towns are now, for the most part, sadly decayed. They have been far outstripped in the march of civilization, and possess little to remind one of their ancient importance, save their names, and the historical associations that cluster around them.

By the year 1720, the French had established a continuous chain of communication, extending from Canada, through Illinois, to the Gulf of Mexico. The entire northwestern country was claimed by France, until the treaty of 1763, when it was ceded, together with the Canadas, to the British crown. In 1765, Capt. Starling, of the Royal Highlanders, took possession of Illinois, and was followed by other commanders.

During the Revolutionary War, the Virginia militia, under Gen. Clarke, subjugated Fort Chartres, near Kaskaskia, and conducted a successful expedition against Port Vincent, now Vincennes.

The Illinois country constituted a part of the great Northwestern Territory, which, after passing under the jurisdiction of Great Britain, belonged to the Province of Virginia, and was ceded by her to the United States in 1783. Illinois was included in the Territory of Indiana as organized in 1800. But it was separated and formed into a distinct Territory, and the provisions of the Ordinance of 1787 extended over it by an act of Congress of Feb. 3d, 1809. Kaskaskia became the capital of the new Territory, and Ninian Edwards, a native of Maryland, who had formerly been Chief Justice of Kentucky, was appointed Governor.

On the 3d of December, 1818, the Territory of Illinois, having formed a State Constitution, was admitted into the Union as the twenty-second State. Shadrach Bond was elected the first Governor, and Ninian Edwards and Jesse B. Thomas were the first United States Senators.

In 1800, the white population of Illinois was 3,000 souls; in 1810 it had increased to 12,000, and in 1818 to about 45,000. Some three thousand of these were descendants of the old French settlers, inhabiting the villages of Kaskaskia, Cahokia, Prairie DuRocher, Prarie DuPont, and Peoria. The American residents were chiefly from Virginia, Kentucky, and Pennsylvania.

At the adjourned session of the first General Assembly, which met in the winter of 1818-19, an act was passed providing for the removal of the seat of government of the State from Kaskaskia. Commissioners were appointed to select a new site, who made choice of a place then in the wilderness, on the upper waters of the winding Kaskaskia, which they called Vandalia. Here the capital remained for twenty years, when it was removed to Springfield.

It is a noteworthy circumstance that the first political excitement in Illinois grew out of the agitation of that old, irrepressible, and always mischievous question of slavery. During the session of the Legislature of 1822-'3, a resolution was passed by the requisite two-thirds vote, providing for the calling of a convention to amend the Constitution so as to permit the introduction of slavery, and thus make Illinois a slave State. But before the convention could meet, it had to be sanctioned by a majority of all the votes cast at the next election for members of the Legislature. The contest which ensued over this question was long, angry, and exciting in the extreme. The people, as well as their political leaders, took an absorbing interest in its discussion, and were nearly equally divided in sentiment. As this was long prior to the anti-slavery agitation of later times, those who resisted the introduction of slavery did so simply on the grounds of policy and expediency. The struggle lasted from the spring of 1823, until the August election of 1824, when the people decided, by a majority of about 2,000, in favor of a free State.

In the summer of 1827, during the administration of Governor Edwards, the first Indian disturbance occurred in the State, after the war of 1812. This was known as the Winnebago war. The white settlers had begun to overrun the lands of the Winnebagoes in the lead bearing region above Galena; many of the miners having pushed their searches for mineral as far north as the Wisconsin river. This was the chief cause of the difficulty. The war was of no long duration, being soon terminated by the vigilance and activity of General Atkinson, of the United States army, and without any considerable loss of life.

By the year 1830, the population of the State had grown to 157,447. It had spread north from Alton to Peoria, principally on the rivers and creeks, where the timber abounded; and in such places there were settlers sparsely scattered along the border of the Mississippi river to Galena; also on the Illinois as far as Chicago, with long intervals of wilderness between; and a few settlements were scattered about over the southern part of the Military Tract. The country on the Sangamon river had been settled, and likewise the interior of the south, leaving a large wilderness tract still to be peopled between Galena and Chicago; the whole of the Fox and Rock river countries; and also the lands in the northeast, along the Kankakee, Vermilion, and other streams, comprising more than one-third of the area of the State. But few settlements were made in the open prairie anywhere, until after the introduction of railroads.

In 1831, hostilities were commenced by the Indians in the Rock river country, in the northwest part of the State. This was the beginning of the Black Hawk war. It appears that a treaty had been made by Gen. Harrison, at St. Louis, in 1804, with the chiefs of the Sacs and Fox Indians, by which they had ceded to the United States all their lands on Rock river. This treaty was confirmed by a part of the tribes, in a treaty with Gov. Edwards and Auguste Chouteau, in 1815, and by another part with the same commissioners, in 1816. The United States had caused some of these lands, situate near the mouth of the river, to be surveyed and sold, and the purchasers from the Government had moved upon them, and made considerable improvements. Meanwhile, the principal part of the Indians had removed to the west of the Mississippi. But there was an old chief of the Sacs, called Mucata, or Black Hawk, who denied the validity of these treaties, and under this pretense resisted the removal of his tribe to the West.

Accordingly, in the spring of 1831, he recrossed the Mississippi with his women and children, and about 300 warriors, to establish himself on his ancient hunting grounds, and in the principal village of his nation. The white settlers being driven off, their property destroyed, and their lives threatened, they appealed to Governor Reynolds for protection.

He immediately wrote to Gen. Gaines, of the United States army, and to General Clark, the Superintendent of Indian affairs, to use the influence of the Government to procure the peaceful removal of the Indians, if possible. Gen. Gaines repaired to Rock Island with a few companies of regular soldiers, and soon ascertained that the Indians were bent on war. He immediately called upon Gov. Reynolds for 700 mounted volunteers. The Governor promptly issued a call upon the central and northern counties, in obedience to which 1,500 volunteers marched to his standard at Beardstown. This force was organized and placed under the command of Gen. Duncan, of the State militia, who proceeded at once to Rockport, on the Mississippi, where he was met by Gen. Gaines. No sooner had the Indians ascertained the formidable army in the field against them, than they abandoned their village and crossed to the western side of the Mississippi river. Learning that Gen. Gaines threatened to pursue them across the river, Black Hawk and his braves sued for peace. A treaty was here formed with them, by which they agreed to remain on the west side of the Mississippi, and never to recross it without the consent of the President, or the Governor of the State.

But the provisions of this treaty were soon violated; and in the spring of 1832, Black Hawk and the disaffected Indians again crossed the Mississippi, and took up their line of march for the Rock river region. The alarm now became general along the entire northern frontier; many of the white settlers abandoned their homes and fled to the south for protection, and a general war with the savages was apprehended.

Gov. Reynolds issued another requisition for troops, when 1,800 volunteers responded. This force was placed under the command of Gen. Whiteside, and on the 27th of April, accompanied by Gov. Reynolds, he set out for Rock river—the theatre of hostilities.

Without entering into details as to the plan of the campaign, suffice it to say that the war was prosecuted with considerable vigor, and varied success, until finally terminated by the decisive battles of Wisconsin Heights and Bad Axe river, fought in the latter part of July of that year. These engagements took place in the Territory of Wisconsin, whither the Indians had retreated after being driven out of Illinois. Black Hawk, his son, and the Prophet of the tribe, were soon afterwards captured and brought to the camp of Gen. Atkinson. They were subsequently taken to Washington, where they had an interview with President Jackson. These Indian prisoners were returned to their own country west of the Mississippi, by order of the President, in 1833. Black Hawk died in 1840, at the advanced age of eighty years. He was a cunning, sagacious, and determined chief—who had sided with the British in the war of 1812, and who, cordially hating the Americans, resisted to the last their continued encroachments upon the hunting grounds of his fathers.

After the Black Hawk war, nothing of importance transpired until the session of the Legislature of 1832-3, which was distinguished for the first efforts made to construct railroads in Illinois. Several charters were passed incorporating railroad companies, and an effort was made to procure a charter for a railroad, instead of a canal, from Lake Michigan to the Illinois river. But little stock, however, was ever taken in these companies.

The first railroad actually completed and put in operation, was between Jacksonville and Meredosia on the Illinois river, in 1840. In the spring of the next year it was extended to Springfield. This was the beginning of that vast and complex system of railways which now stretches over the State in every direction—amounting in the aggregate to some 4,000 miles.

As early as 1821, the Legislature appropriated $10,000 for a survey of the route of the Illinois and Michigan canal. In 1825, a law was passed incorporating a company to build it; but the stock was never taken, and nothing effectual was accomplished until 1835. The work was at last commenced in June, 1836, and completed in 1845, at a cost to the State of over $10,000,000. Its value and efficiency, both in a commercial and military point of view, will be vastly enhanced when it shall be enlarged so as to permit the passage of steam vessels, and thus open an easy channel of navigation from the Lakes, down the Illinois and Mississippi rivers, to the Gulf of Mexico.

Between the years 1836 and 1841, Illinois became heavily involved in debt, in consequence of having loaned her credit to various schemes of internal improvement, and to establish a State Bank and branches. The internal improvement system exploded; the banks failed; the bonds of the State suffered a heavy decline, and business of every kind was utterly prostrated.

Financial embarrassment and commercial ruin was the order of the day, and all healthy growth and prosperity was at an end. These financial difficulties seem to have culminated about the year 1842, at which time the debt of the State amounted to $14,000,000. In that year, Thomas Ford was elected Governor.

During his able administration, a series of measures were brought forward in the Legislature (chiefly at his suggestion) which, becoming laws, restored the fallen credit of the Commonwealth, gave a new impetus to trade and agriculture, and revived the drooping hopes of the people.

In the years 1839-40, the Mormons, having been driven out of Missouri, came to Illinois, and settled at a place on the Mississippi river in Hancock county, afterwards called Nauvoo. In 1841, this place was incorporated as a city, and Joe Smith, the Mormon prophet, was elected mayor. In a very few years the city embraced a heterogeneous population of 15,000; and the building of a magnificent temple was commenced, at an estimated cost of $1,000,000. Everything went on prosperously with the Mormons for a while; they were regarded as a persecuted people, and their votes and influence were courted by the intriguing politicians of the day. But, true to their native instincts and previous history, they soon became embroiled in difficulties and litigation with their "gentile" neighbors. They first obstructed and resisted the local authorities of the county, and finally set at defiance the authority of the State.

At length, in 1844, their leader and prophet, Smith, was killed by a mob, and they, not long after, prepared to make their exit from the State. In the spring of 1846, the Mormons, to the number of 16,000, crossed the Mississippi and took up their line of march for the far West. Proceeding to Utah Territory, they founded the present city of Salt Lake, or "City of the Saints," as they term it.

After having recovered from her financial embarrassments—after the exodus of the Mormons and the subsidence of the mob spirit engendered by their presence, Illinois entered upon that career of material prosperity and development which has ever since distinguished her among her sister States.

In 1865, the population had swelled to 2,511,000, and it must now reach 3,000,000. Yet hardly more than one-fifth of the State is under actual cultivation; and when it is considered that she has less waste lands than any other State in the Union, some idea may be formed of the enormous population she is capable of supporting.

For a young State, Illinois can boast quite a number of large and flourishing cities. Springfield, the capital and shire-town of Sangamon county, is located near the centre of the State; being 184 miles southwest of Chicago, and 98 miles distant from St. Louis. This place was founded in 1818, and became the seat of Government in 1837. It is a substantial, well-built city, with a population of 20,000; and is distinguished by the wealth, refinement, and hospitality of its inhabitants.

The commercial metropolis of Illinois, and in fact of the Northwest, is Chicago, situated on Lake Michigan. In 1830, the site of the present city was surrounded and partially occupied by the Pottawatomie Indians. It was incorporated as a town in 1833, when it had only about two dozen inhabitants. In 1837, it was incorporated as a city; and its subsequent growth has been most remarkable. With its large accumulation of capital, its unrivalled commercial position, and the extent and fertility of the country by which it is surrounded, Chicago is destined to become the great central city of the continent.

At Jacksonville, the seat of justice of Morgan county, are located a number of the State Institutions—the Insane, the Deaf and Dumb, and the Blind Asylums. It is also the seat of the Illinois College and other institutions of learning.

Peoria, on the Illinois, and Quincy, on the Mississippi river, are cities of acknowledged beauty and importance; and, next to Chicago, are the largest in the State. The other principal cities are Alton, Belleville, Cairo, Shawneetown, Decatur, Bloomington, Danville, LaSalle, Ottawa, Joliet, Rock Island, and Galena.

We may not pause to speak of the conspicuous and brilliant part played by Illinois in the Mexican war, and in the late terrible civil war. Her sons have gone beyond the Rio Grande, up the heights of Buena Vista and Cerro Gordo, and into the valley of Mexico. They have been down the Mississippi, along the sea coast, and on the Potomac; indeed, wherever the smoke of battle was thickest, and the struggle fiercest, there have they been found, with brave hearts and strong arms, upholding the flag of the Union and Constitution.

It was intended in this sketch to notice the men who had been prominent in shaping the history and directing the politics of the State, and who had taken high and influential positions in the nation, but the subject is too extensive for our narrow limits. A long list of great names is to be found in the roll of the citizens of Illinois. Her early annals are emblazoned with such names as Edwards, Thomas, Pope, Kane, Cook, Phillips, Reynolds, Henry, Duncan, Casey, and others. Coming down to a later date, we find a host of worthies, of whom Ford, Hardin, Harris, Bissell, Breese, Kœrner, Shields, Trumbull, McClernand, Browning, Richardson, Stuart, and Palmer are fitting types. But rising above all these in prominence are Lincoln, Douglas, and Baker—men who have stamped the impress of their genius and character not only upon the State of their adoption, and raised that State to a degree of political importance which it had never before known, but upon the whole country; and who, passing beyond the confines of time, have bequeathed to that country names which posterity will not willingly let die.

CONSTITUTION OF ILLINOIS.

ADOPTED BY THE CONVENTION, AUGUST 31, 1847, RATIFIED
BY VOTE OF THE PEOPLE MARCH 6, 1848, AND IN FORCE FROM AND AFTER APRIL 1, 1848.

PREAMBLE.

We, the PEOPLE of the State of Illinois—grateful to ALMIGHTY God for the civil, political, and religious liberty which HE hath so long permitted us to enjoy, and looking to HIM for a blessing upon our endeavors to secure and transmit the same unimpaired to succeeding generations—in order to form a more perfect government, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the State of Illinois.

ARTICLE I.

BOUNDARIES.

SECTION 1. The boundaries and jurisdiction of the State shall be as follows, to-wit: Beginning at the mouth of the Wabash river; thence up the same, and with the line of Indiana, to the northwest corner of said State; thence east, with the line of the same State, to the middle of Lake Michigan; thence north, along the middle of said lake, to north latitude forty-two degrees and thirty minutes; thence west to the middle of the Mississippi river, and thence down, along the middle of that river, to its confluence with the Ohio river, and thence up the latter river, along its northwestern shore, to the place of beginning: Provided, that this State shall exercise such jurisdiction upon the Ohio river as she is now entitled to, or such as may hereafter be agreed upon by this State and the State of Kentucky.

ARTICLE II.

CONCERNING THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE POWERS OF GOVERNMENT.

SEC. 1. The powers of the government of the State of Illinois shall be divided into three distinct departments, and each of them be confided to a separate body of magistracy, to-wit: Those which are legislative, to one; those which are executive, to another; and those which are judicial, to another.

SEC. 2. No person, or collection of persons, being one of these departments, shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others, except as hereinafter expressly directed or permitted, and all acts in contravention of this section shall be void.

ARTICLE III.

OF THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 1. The legislative authority of this State shall be vested in a General Assembly, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives, both to be elected by the people.

SEC. 2. The first election for senators and representatives shall be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight; and thereafter elections for members of the General Assembly shall be held once in two years, on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, in each and every county, at such places therein as may be provided by law.

SEC. 3. No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years; who shall not be a citizen of the United States, and three years an inhabitant of this State; who shall not have resided within the limits of the county or district in which he shall be chosen twelve months next preceding his election, if such county or district shall have been so long erected; but if not, then within the limits of the county or counties, district or districts, out of which the same shall have been taken, unless he shall have been absent on the public business of the United States, or of this State; and who, moreover, shall not have paid a State or county tax.

SEC. 4. No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained the age of thirty years; who shall not be a citizen of the United States, five years an inhabitant of this State, and one year in the county or district in which he shall be chosen immediately preceding his election, if such county or district shall have been so long erected; but if not, then within the limits of the county or counties, district or districts, out of which the same shall have been taken, unless he shall have been absent on the public business of the United States, or of this State, and shall not, moreover, have paid a State or county tax.

SEC. 5. The senators, at their first session herein provided for, shall be divided by lot, as near as can be, into two classes. The seats of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, and those of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year; so that one-half thereof, as near as possible, may be biennially chosen forever thereafter.

SEC. 6. The Senate shall consist of twenty-five members, and the House of Representatives shall consist of seventy-five members, until the population of the State shall amount to one million of souls, when five members may be added to the House, and five additional members for every five hundred thousand inhabitants thereafter, until the whole number of representatives shall amount to one hundred; after which the number shall neither be increased nor diminished; to be apportioned among the several counties according to the number of white inhabitants. In all future apportionments, where more than one county shall be thrown into a representative district, all the representatives to which said counties may be entitled shall be elected by the entire district.

SEC. 7. No person elected to the General Assembly shall receive any civil appointment within this State, or to the Senate of the United States, from the Governor, the Governor and Senate, or from the General Assembly, during the term for which he shall have been elected; and all such appointments, and all votes given for any such member for any such office or appointment, shall be void; nor shall any member of the General Assembly be interested, either directly or indirectly, in any contract with the State, or any county thereof, authorized by any law passed during the time for which he shall have been elected, or during one year after the expiration thereof.

SEC. 8. In the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five, and every tenth year thereafter, an enumeration of all the inhabitants of this State shall be made, in such manner as shall be directed by law; and in the year eighteen hundred and fifty, and every tenth year thereafter, the census taken by authority of the government of the United States shall be adopted by the General Assembly as the enumeration of this State; and the number of senators and representatives shall, at the first regular session holden after the returns herein provided for are made, be apportioned among the several counties or districts to be established by law, according to the number of white inhabitants.

SEC. 9. Senatorial and representative districts shall be composed of contiguous territory bounded by county lines; and only one senator allowed to each senatorial, and not more than three representatives to any representative district: Provided, that cities and towns containing the requisite population may be erected into separate districts.

SEC. 10. In forming senatorial and representative districts, counties containing a population of not more than one-fourth over the existing ratio, shall form separate districts, and the excess shall be given to the nearest county or counties not having a senator or representative, as the case may be, which has the largest white population.

SEC. 11. The first session of the General Assembly shall commence on the first Monday of January, one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine; and forever after, the General Assembly shall meet on the first Monday of January next ensuing the election of the members thereof, and at no other period, unless as provided by this Constitution.

SEC. 12. The Senate and House of Representatives, when assembled, shall each choose a Speaker and other officers (the Speaker of the Senate excepted). Each House shall judge of the qualifications and election of its members, and sit upon its own adjournments. Two-thirds of each House shall constitute a quorum; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members.

SEC. 13. Each House shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish them. The yeas and nays of the members on any question shall, at the desire of any two of them, be entered on the journals.

SEC. 14. Any two members of either House shall have liberty to dissent and protest against any act or resolution which they may think injurious to the public, or to any individual, and have the reasons of their dissent entered on the journals.

SEC. 15. Each House may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected, expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause; and the reason for such expulsion shall be entered upon the journal, with the names of the members voting on the question.

SEC. 16. When vacancies shall happen in either House, the Governor, or the person exercising the powers of Governor, shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

SEC. 17. Senators and representatives shall in all cases, except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during the session of the General Assembly, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

SEC. 18. Each House may punish, by imprisonment during its session, any person, not a member, who shall be guilty of disrespect to the House, by any disorderly or contemptuous behavior in their presence: Provided, such imprisonment shall not, at any one time, exceed twenty-four hours.

SEC. 19. The doors of each House, and of Committees of the Whole, shall be kept open, except in such cases as in the opinion of the House require secrecy. Neither House shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than two days, nor to any other place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

SEC. 20. The style of the laws of this State shall be: "Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly."

SEC. 21. Bills may originate in either House, but may be altered, amended or rejected by the other; and on the final passage of all bills the vote shall be by ayes and noes, and shall be entered on the journal; and no bill shall become a law without the concurrence of a majority of all the members elect in each House.

SEC. 22. Bills making appropriations for the pay of the members and officers of the General Assembly, and for the sala ries of the officers of the government, shall not contain any provision on any other subject.

SEC. 23. Every bill shall be read on three different days, in each House, unless, in case of urgency, three-fourths of the House, where such bill is so depending, shall deem it expedient to dispense with this rule, and every bill having passed both Houses shall be signed by the Speakers of their respective Houses; and no private or local law which may be passed by the General Assembly shall embrace more than one subject, and that shall be expressed in the title. And no public act of the General Assembly shall take effect or be in force until the expiration of sixty days from the end of the session at which the same may be passed, unless in case of emergency the General Assembly shall otherwise direct.

SEC. 24. The sum of two dollars per day, for the first forty-two days' attendance, and one dollar per day, for each day's attendance thereafter, and ten cents for each necessary mile's travel, going to and returning from the seat of government, shall be allowed to the members of the General Assembly, as a compensation for their services, and no more. The Speaker of the House of Representatives shall be allowed the sum of one dollar per day, in addition to his per diem as a member.

SEC. 25. The per diem and mileage allowed to each member of the General Assembly shall be certified by the Speakers of their respective Houses, and entered on the journals, and published at the close of each session.

SEC. 26. No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and an accurate statement of the receipts and expenditures of the public moneys shall be attached to, and published with, the laws at the rising of each session of the General Assembly. And no person who has been or may be a collector or holder of the public moneys shall be eligible to a seat in either House of the General Assembly, nor be eligible to any office of profit or trust in this State, until such person shall have accounted for, and paid into the treasury, all sums for which he may be accountable.

SEC. 27. The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeaching, but a majority of all the members elected must concur in an impeachment. All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate; and when sitting for that purpose the senators shall be upon oath, or affirmation, to do justice according to law and evidence. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the senators elected.

SEC. 28. The Governor, and other civil officers under this State, shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor in office; but judgment in such cases shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold any office of honor, profit, or trust, under this State. The party, whether convicted or acquitted, shall, nevertheless, be liable to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

SEC. 29. No Judge of any court of law or equity, Secretary of State, Attorney General, Attorney for the State, Recorder, Clerk of any court of record, Sheriff or Collector, Member of either House of Congress, or person holding any lucrative office under the United States or of this State—provided that appointments in the militia, or Justices of the Peace, shall not be considered lucrative offices—shall have a seat in the General Assembly; nor shall any person holding any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, hold any office of honor or profit under the authority of this State.

SEC. 30. Every person who shall be chosen or appointed to any office of trust or profit shall, before entering upon the duties thereof, take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and also an oath of office.

SEC. 31. The General Assembly shall have full power to exclude from the privilege of electing, or being elected, any person convicted of bribery, perjury, or other infamous crime.

SEC. 32. The General Assembly shall have no power to grant divorces, but may authorize the courts of justice to grant them for such causes as may be specified by law: Provided, that such laws be general and uniform in their operation.

SEC. 33. The General Assembly shall never grant or authorize extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant, or contractor, after the service shall have been rendered, or the contract entered into.

SEC. 34. The General Assembly shall direct, by law, in what manner suits may be brought against the State.

SEC. 35. The General Assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries for any purpose, nor to revive or extend the charter of the State Bank, or the charter of any other bank heretofore existing in this State, and shall pass laws to prohibit the sale of lottery tickets in this State.

SEC. 36. The General Assembly shall have no power to authorize, by private or special law, the sale of any lands, or other real estate, belonging, in whole or in part, to any individual or individuals.

SEC. 37. Each General Assembly shall provide for all the appropriations necessary for the ordinary and contingent expenses of the government until the adjournment of the next regular session, the aggregate amount of which shall not be increased without a vote of two-thirds of each House, nor exceed the amount of revenue authorized by law to be raised in such time: Provided, the State may, to meet casual deficits or failures in revenues, contract debts, never to exceed in the aggregate fifty thousand dollars; and the moneys thus borrowed shall be applied to the purpose for which they were obtained, or to repay the debt thus made, and to no other purpose; and no other debt, except for the purpose of repelling invasion, suppressing insurrection, or defending the State in war, (for payment of which the faith of the State shall be pledged,) shall be contracted, unless the law authorizing the same shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the People, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for members of the General Assembly at such election. The General Assembly shall provide for the publication of said law for three months at least before the vote of the people shall be taken upon the same; and provision shall be made, at the time, for the payment of the interest annually, as it shall accrue, by a tax levied for the purpose, or from other sources of revenue; which law, providing for the payment of such interest by such tax, shall be irrevocable until such debt be paid: And provided further, that the law levying the tax shall be submitted to the people with the law authorizing the debt to be contracted.

SEC. 38. The credit of the State shall not, in any manner, be given to, or in aid of, any individual, association, or corporation.

SEC. 39. The General Assembly shall provide by law that the fuel and stationery furnished for the use of the State, the copying, printing, binding, and distributing the laws and journals, and all other printing ordered by the General Assembly, shall be let by contract to the lowest responsible bidder; and that no member of the General Assembly, or other officer of the State, shall be interested, either directly or indirectly, in any such contract: Provided, that the General Assembly may fix a maximum price.

SEC. 40. Until there shall be a new apportionment of senators and representatives, the State shall be divided into senatorial and representative districts, and the senators and representatives shall be apportioned among the several districts, as follows, viz.:

SENATORIAL DISTRICTS.

1. The counties of Alexander, Union, Pulaski, Johnson, Massac, Pope and Hardin, shall constitute the first senatorial district, and shall be entitled to one senator.

ARTICLE IV.

OF THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 1. The executive power of the State shall be vested in a Governor.

SEC. 2. The first election of Governor shall be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1848; and the next election shall be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, A. D. 1852; and thereafter an election for Governor shall be held once in four years, on Tuesday next after the first Monday of November. The Governor shall be chosen by the electors of the members of the General Assembly, at the same places and in the same manner that they shall respectively vote for members thereof. The returns for every election of Governor shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government, by the returning officers, directed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who shall open and publish them in the presence of a majority of the members of each House of the General Assembly. The person of having the highest number of votes shall be Governor; but if two or more be equal and highest in votes, then one of them shall be chosen Governor by joint ballot of both Houses of the General Assembly. Contested elections shall be determined by both Houses of the General Assembly, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 3. The first Governor shall enter upon the duties of his office on the second Monday of January, A. D. 1849, and shall hold his office until the second Monday of January, A. D. 1853, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified; and thereafter the Governor shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified; but he shall not be eligible to such office more than four years, in any term of eight years, nor to any other office until after the expiration of the term for which he was elected.

SEC. 4. No person except a citizen of the United States shall be eligible to the office of Governor; nor shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained the age of thirty-five years, and been ten years a resident of this State, and fourteen years a citizen of the United States.

SEC. 5. The Governor shall reside at the seat of government, and receive a salary of fifteen hundred dollars per annum; which shall not be increased or diminished; and he shall not, during the time for which he shall have been elected, receive any emolument from the United States, or either of them.

SEC. 6. Before he enters upon the duties of his office he shall take the following oath or affirmation, to-wit: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the duties appertaining to the office of Governor of the State of Illinois; and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of this State; and will also support the Constitution of the United States."

SEC. 7. He shall, from time to time, give the General Assembly information of the state of the government, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall deem expedient.

SEC. 8. The Governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after conviction, for all offenses except treason and cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. Upon conviction for treason, he shall have power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the General Assembly at its next meeting, when the General Assembly shall pardon the convict, commute the sentence, direct the execution thereof, or grant a further reprieve. He shall, biennially, communicate to the General Assembly each case of reprieve, commutation, or pardon granted, stating the name of the convict, the crime for which he was convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of commutation, pardon, or reprieve.

SEC. 9. He may require information in writing from the officers in the executive department, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 10. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the General Assembly by proclamation, and shall state in said proclamation the purpose for which they are to convene, and the General Assembly shall enter on no legislative business except that for which they were specially called together.

SEC. 11. He shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of this State, and of the militia, except when they shall be called into the service of the United States.

SEC. 12. The Governor shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate (a majority of all the senators concurring), appoint all officers whose offices are established by this Constitution, or which may be created by law, and whose appointments are not otherwise provided for ; and no such officer shall be appointed or elected by the General Assembly.

SEC. 13. In case of disagreement between the two Houses with respect to the time of adjournment, the Governor shall have power to adjourn the General Assembly to such time as he thinks proper : Provided, it be not to a period beyond the next constitutional meeting of the same.

SEC. 14. A Lieutenant Governor shall be chosen at every election of Governor, in the same manner, continue in office for the same time, and possess the same qualifications. In voting for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, the electors shall distinguish whom they vote for as Governor and whom as Lieutenant Governor.

SEC. 15. The Lieutenant Governor shall, by virtue of his office, be Speaker of the Senate ; have a right, when in Committee of the Whole, to debate and vote on all subjects, and whenever the Senate are equally divided, to give the casting vote.

SEC. 16. Whenever the government shall be administered by the Lieutenant Governor, or he shall be unable to attend as Speaker of the Senate, the senators shall elect one of their own number as Speaker for that occasion ; and if, during the vacancy of the office of Governor, the Lieutenant Governor shall be impeached, removed from office, refuse to qualify, or resign or die, or be absent from the State, the Speaker of the Senate shall, in like manner, administer the government.

SEC. 17. The Lieutenant Governor, while he acts as Speaker of the Senate, shall receive for his services the same compensation which shall for the same period be allowed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and no more.

SEC. 18. If the Lieutenant Governor shall be called upon to administer the government, and shall, while in such administration, resign, die, or be absent from the State during the recess of the General Assembly, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of State, for the time being, to convene the Senate for the purpose of choosing a Speaker.

SEC. 19. In case of the impeachment of the Governor, his absence from the State, or inability to discharge the duties of his office, the powers, duties, and emoluments of the office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor; and in case of his death, resignation, or removal, then upon the Speaker of the Senate for the time being, until the Governor, absent or impeached, shall return or be acquitted; or until the disqualification or inability shall cease; or until a new Governor shall be elected and qualified.

SEC. 20. In case of a vacancy in the office of Governor, for any other cause than those herein enumerated, or in case of the death of the Governor elect before he is qualified, the powers, duties, and emoluments of the office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor or Speaker of the Senate, as above provided, until a new Governor be elected and qualified.

SEC. 21. Every bill which shall have passed the Senate and House of Representatives shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor; if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the House in which it shall have originated; and the said House shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, a majority of the members elected shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by a majority of the members elected, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor; but in all such cases the votes of both Houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, to be entered on the journals of each House, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the Governor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the General Assembly shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return; in which case the said bill shall be returned on the first day of the meeting of the General Assembly after the expiration of said ten days, or be a law.

SEC. 22. There shall be elected by the qualified electors of this State, at the same time of the election for Governor, a Secretary of State, whose term of office shall be the same as that of the Governor, who shall keep a fair register of the official acts of the Governor, and when required shall lay the same, and all papers, minutes, and vouchers relative thereto, before either branch of the General Assembly, and shall perform such other duties as shall be assigned him by law, and shall receive a salary of eight hundred dollars per annum, and no more, except fees: Provided, that if the office of Secretary of State should be vacated by death, resignation or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the Governor to appoint another, who shall hold his office until another Secretary shall be elected and qualified.

SEC. 23. There shall be chosen, by the qualified electors throughout the State, an Auditor of Public Accounts, who shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor is qualified, and whose duties shall be regulated by law, and who shall receive a salary, exclusive of clerk hire, of one thousand dollars per annum, for his services, and no more.

SEC. 24. There shall be elected, by the qualified electors throughout the State, a State Treasurer, who shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor is qualified; whose duties may be regulated by law; and who shall receive a salary of eight hundred dollars per annum, and no more.

SEC. 25. All grants and commissions shall be sealed with the Great Seal of State, signed by the Governor or person administering the government, and countersigned by the Secretary of State.

SEC. 26. The Governor and all other civil officers shall be liable to impeachment for misdemeanor in office, during their continuance in office, and for two years thereafter.

ARTICLE V.

OF THE JUDICIARY DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 1. The judicial power of this State shall be and is hereby vested in one Supreme Court, in Circuit Courts, in County Courts, and in Justices of the Peace: Provided, that inferior local courts, of civil and criminal jurisdiction, may be established by the General Assembly in the cities of this State, but such courts shall have a uniform organization and jurisdiction in such cities.

SEC. 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of three judges, two of whom shall form a quorum; and the concurrence of two of said judges shall in all cases be necessary to a decision.

SEC. 3. The State shall be divided into three Grand Divisions, as nearly equal as may be, and the qualified electors of each division shall elect one of the said judges for the term of nine years: Provided, that after the first election of such judges, the General Assembly may have the power to provide by law for their election by the whole State, or by divisions, as they may deem most expedient.

SEC. 4. The office of one of said judges shall be vacated, after the first election held under this article, in three years, of one in six years, and of one in nine years, to be decided by lot, so that one of said judges shall be elected once in every three years. The judge having the longest term to serve shall be the first Chief Justice, after which, the judge having the oldest commission shall be Chief Justice.

SEC. 5. The Supreme Court may have original jurisdiction in cases relative to the revenue, in cases of mandamus, habeas corpus, and in such cases of impeachment as may be by law directed to be tried before it, and shall have appellate jurisdiction in all other cases.

SEC. 6. The Supreme Court shall hold one term annually in each of the aforesaid Grand Divisions, at such time and place, in each of said divisions, as may be provided for by law.

SEC. 7. The State shall be divided into nine judicial districts; in each of which one Circuit Judge shall be elected by the qualified electors thereof, who shall hold his office for the term of six years, and until his successor shall be commissioned and qualified: Provided, that the General Assembly may increase the number of circuits to meet the future exigencies of the State.

SEC. 8. There shall be two or more terms of the Circuit Court held annually in each county of this State, at such times as shall be provided by law; and said courts shall have jurisdiction in all cases at law and equity, and in all cases of appeals from all inferior courts.

SEC. 9. All vacancies in the Supreme and Circuit Courts shall be filled by elections as aforesaid: Provided, however, that if the unexpired term does not exceed one year, such vacancy may be filled by executive appointment.

SEC. 10. The judges of the Supreme Court shall receive a salary of twelve hundred dollars per annum, payable quarterly, and no more. The judges of the Circuit Courts shall receive a salary of one thousand dollars per annum, payable quarterly, and no more. The judges of the Supreme and Circuit Courts shall not be eligible to any other office, or public trust, of profit, in this State or the United States, during the term for which they are elected, nor for one year thereafter. All votes for either of them for any elective office (except that of judge of the Supreme or Circuit Court), given by the General Assembly, or the people, shall be void.

SEC. 11. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge of any court of this State who is not a citizen of the United States, and who shall not have resided in this State five years next preceding his election, and who shall not for two years next preceding his election have resided in the division, circuit, or county in which he shall be elected; nor shall any person be elected judge of the Supreme Court who shall be, at the time of his election, under the age of thirty-five years; and no person shall be eligible to the office of Judge of the Circuit Court until he shall have attained the age of thirty years.

SEC. 12. For any reasonable cause, to be entered on the journals of each House, which shall not be sufficient ground for impeachment, both Justices of the Supreme Court and Judges of the Circuit Court, shall be removed from office, on the vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the General Assembly: Provided, always, that no member of either House of the General Assembly shall be eligible to fill the vacancy occasioned by such removal: Provided, also, that no removal shall be made unless the justice or judge complained of shall have been served with a copy of the complaint against him, and shall have an opportunity of being heard in his defense.

SEC. 13. The first election for Justices of the Supreme Court and Judges of the Circuit Courts shall be held on the first Monday of September, 1848.

SEC. 14. The second election for one Justice of the Supreme Court shall be held on the first Monday of June, 1852; and every three years thereafter an election shall be held for one Justice of the Supreme Court.

SEC. 15. On the first Monday in June, 1855, and every sixth year thereafter, an election shall be held for Judges of the Circuit Courts: Provided, whenever an additional circuit is created, such provision may be made as to hold the second election of such additional judge at the regular elections herein provided.

SEC. 16. There shall be in each county a court, to be called a County Court.

SEC. 17. One County Judge shall be elected by the qualified voters of each county, who shall hold his office for four years, and until his successor is elected and qualified.

SEC. 18. The jurisdiction of said court shall extend to all probate and such other jurisdiction as the General Assembly may confer in civil cases, and such criminal cases as may be prescribed by law, where the punishment is by fine only, not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 19. The County Judge, with such Justices of the Peace in each county as may be designated by law, shall hold terms for the transaction of county business, and shall perform such other duties as the General Assembly shall prescribe: Provided, the General Assembly may require that two justices, to be chosen by the qualified electors of each county, shall sit with the County Judge in all cases; and there shall be elected quadrennially, in each county, a Clerk of the County Court, who shall be, ex-officio, Recorder, whose compensation shall be fees: Provided, the General Assembly may, by law, make the Clerk of the Circuit Court, ex-officio, Recorder, in lieu of the County Clerk.

SEC. 20. The General Assembly shall provide for the compensation of the County Judge.

SEC. 21. The Clerks of the Supreme and Circuit Courts, and State's Attorneys, shall be elected at the first special election for Judges. The second election for Clerks of the Supreme Court shall be held on the first Monday of June, 1855, and every sixth year thereafter. The second election for Clerks of the Circuit Courts, and State's Attorneys, shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, 1852, and every fourth year thereafter.

SEC. 22. All Judges and State's Attorneys shall be commissioned by the Governor.

SEC. 23. The election of all officers, and the filling of all vacancies that may happen by death, resignation, or removal, not otherwise directed or provided for by this Constitution, shall be made in such manner as the General Assembly shall direct: Provided, that no such officer shall be elected by the General Assembly.

SEC. 24. The General Assembly may authorize the judgments, decrees and decisions of any local inferior court of record, of original, civil, or criminal jurisdiction, established in a city, to be removed for revision directly into the Supreme Court.

SEC. 25. County Judges, Clerks, Sheriffs, and other county officers, for willful neglect of duty, or misdemeanor in office, shall be liable to presentment or indictment by a grand jury, and trial by a petit jury, and, upon conviction, shall be removed from office.

SEC. 26. All process, writs, and other proceedings, shall run in the name of "The People of the State of Illinois." All prosecutions shall be carried on "In the name and by the authority of the People of the State of Illinois," and conclude, "Against the peace and dignity of the same."

SEC. 27. There shall be elected in each county in this State, in such districts as the General Assembly may direct, by the qualified electors thereof, a competent number of Justices of the Peace, who shall hold their offices for the term of four years, and until their successors shall have been elected and qualified, and who shall perform such duties, receive such compensation, and exercise such jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 28. There shall be elected in each of the judicial circuits of this State, by the qualified electors thereof, one State's Attorney, who shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor shall be commissioned and qualified; who shall perform such duties, and receive such compensation as may be prescribed by law: Provided, that the General Assembly may hereafter provide by law for the election, by the qualified voters of each county in this State, of one County Attorney for each county, in lieu of the State's Attorneys provided for in this section; the term of office, duties and compensation of which County Attorneys shall be regulated by law.

SEC. 29. The qualified electors of each county in this State shall elect a Clerk of the Circuit Court, who shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified; who shall perform such duties, and receive such compensation, as may be prescribed by law. The Clerks of the Supreme Court shall be elected, in each division, by the qualified electors thereof, for the term of six years, and until their successors shall have been elected and qualified; whose duties and compensation shall be provided by law.

SEC. 30. The First Grand Division, for the election of Judges of the Supreme Court, shall consist of the counties of Alexander, Pulaski, Massac, Pope, Hardin, Gallatin, Saline, Williamson, Johnson, Union, Jackson, Randolph, Perry, Franklin, Hamilton, White, Wabash, Edwards, Wayne, Jefferson, Washington, Monroe, St. Clair, Clinton, Marion, Clay, Richland, Lawrence, Crawford, Jasper, Effingham, Fayette, Bond, Madison, Jersey, and Calhoun.

The Second Grand Division shall consist of the counties of Edgar, Coles, Moultrie, Shelby, Montgomery, Macoupin, Greene, Pike, Adams, Highland, Hancock, McDonough, Schuyler, Brown, Fulton, Mason, Cass, Morgan, Scott, Sangamon, Christian, Macon, Piatt, Champaign, Vermilion, DeWitt, Logan, Menard, Cumberland, and Clark.

The Third Grand Division shall consist of the counties of Henderson, Warren, Knox, Peoria, Tazewell, Woodford, McLean, Livingston, Iroquois, Will, Grundy, Kendall, LaSalle, Putnam, Marshall, Stark, Bureau, Henry, Mercer, Rock Island, White-side, Lee, Carroll, Jo Daviess, Stephenson, Winnebago, Ogle, DeKalb, Boone, Kane, McHenry, Lake, Cook, and DuPage.

SEC. 31. The terms of the Supreme Court for the First Division shall be held at Mount Vernon, in Jefferson county; for the Second Division, at Springfield, in Sangamon county; for the Third Division, at Ottawa, in LaSalle county, until some other place in either division is fixed by law.

SEC. 32. Appeals and writs of error may be taken from the Circuit Court of any county to the Supreme Court held in the division which includes such county, or, with the consent of all the parties in the cause, to the Supreme Court in the next adjoining division.

SEC. 33. The foregoing districts may, after the taking of each census by the State, be altered, if necessary, to equalize the said districts in population; but such alteration shall be made by adding to such district such adjacent county or counties as will make said district nearest equal in population: Provided, no such alteration shall affect the office of any Judge then in office.

ARTICLE VI.

ON ELECTIONS AND THE RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.

SEC. 1. In all elections, every white male citizen above the age of twenty-one years, having resided in the State one year next preceding any election, shall be entitled to vote at such election; and every white male inhabitant of the age aforesaid, who may be a resident of the State at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall have the right of voting as aforesaid; but no such citizen or inhabitant shall be entitled to vote, except in the district or county in which he shall actually reside at the time of such election.

SEC. 2. All votes shall be given by ballot.

SEC. 3. Electors shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at elections, and in going to and returning from the same.

SEC. 4. No elector shall be obliged to do militia duty on the days of election, except in time of war or public danger.

SEC. 5. No elector shall be deemed to have lost his residence in this State by reason of his absence on the business of the United States, or of this State.

SEC. 6. No soldier, seaman, or marine in the army or navy of the United States, shall be deemed a resident of this State in consequence of being stationed at any military or naval place within the same.

SEC. 7. No person shall be elected or appointed to any office in this State, civil or military, who is not a citizen of the United States, and who shall not have resided in this State one year next before the election or appointment.

SEC. 8. The General Assembly shall have full power to pass laws excluding from the rights of suffrage persons convicted of infamous crimes.

SEC. 9. The general elections shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, biennially, until otherwise provided by law.

ARTICLE VII.

OF COUNTIES.

SEC. 1. No new county shall be formed or established by the General Assembly, which will reduce the county or counties, or either of them, from which it shall be taken, to less contents than four hundred square miles; nor shall any county be formed of less contents; nor shall any line thereof pass within less than ten miles of any county seat of the county or counties proposed to be divided.

SEC. 2. No county shall be divided, or have any part stricken therefrom, without submitting the question to a vote of the people of the county, nor unless a majority of all the legal voters of the county voting on the question shall vote for the same.

SEC. 3. All territory which has been or may be stricken off by legislative enactment from any organized county or counties, for the purpose of forming a new county, and which shall remain unorganized after the period provided for such organization, shall be and remain a part of the county or counties from which it was originally taken, for all purposes of county and state government, until otherwise provided by law.

SEC. 4. There shall be no territory stricken from any county unless a majority of the voters living in such territory shall petition for such division; and no territory shall be added to any county without the consent of a majority of the voters of the county to which it is proposed to be added.

SEC. 5. No county seat shall be removed until the point to which it is proposed to be removed shall be fixed by law, and a majority of the voters of the county shall have voted in favor of its removal to such point.

SEC. 6. The General Assembly shall provide, by a general law, for a township organization, under which any county may organize whenever a majority of the voters of such county, at any general election, shall so determine; and whenever any county shall adopt a township organization, so much of this Constitution as provides for the management of the fiscal concerns of the said county by the County Court may be dispensed with, and the affairs of said county may be transacted in such manner as the General Assembly may provide.

SEC. 7. There shall be elected in each county in this State, by the qualified electors thereof, a Sheriff, who shall hold his office for the term of two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified: Provided, no person shall be eligible to the said office more than once in four years.

ARTICLE VIII.

OF THE MILITIA.

SEC. 1. The militia of the State of Illinois shall consist of all free male able bodied persons (negroes, mulattoes, and Indians excepted), resident of the State, between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, except such persons as now are or hereafter may be exempted by the laws of the United States or of this State, and shall be armed, equipped, and trained as the General Assembly may provide by law.

SEC. 2. No person or persons, conscientiously scrupulous of bearing arms, shall be compelled to do militia duty in time of peace, provided such person or persons shall pay an equivalent for such exemption.

SEC. 3. Company, battalion, and regimental officers, staff officers excepted, shall be elected by the persons composing their several companies, battalions, and regiments.

SEC. 4. Brigadiers and Major Generals shall be elected by the officers of their brigades and divisions, respectively.

SEC. 5. All militia officers shall be commissioned by the Governor, and may hold their commissions for such time as the Legislature may provide.

SEC. 6. The militia shall in all cases, except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at musters and elections of officers, and in going to and returning from the same.

ARTICLE IX.

OF THE REVENUE.

SEC. 1. The General Assembly may, whenever they shall deem it necessary, cause to be collected from all able-bodied free white male inhabitants of this State, over the age of twenty-one years and under the age of sixty years, who are entitled to the right of suffrage, a capitation tax of not less than fifty cents, nor more than one dollar each.

SEC. 2. The General Assembly shall provide for levying a tax by valuation, so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his or her property; such value to be ascertained by some person or persons, to be elected or appointed in such manner as the General Assembly shall direct, and not otherwise; but the General Assembly shall have power to tax peddlers, auctioneers, brokers, hawkers, merchants, commission merchants, showmen, jugglers, inn-keepers, grocery-keepers, toll-bridges, and ferries, and persons using and exercising franchises and privileges, in such manner as they shall from time to time direct.

SEC. 3. The property of the State and counties, both real and personal, and such other property as the General Assembly may deem necessary for school, religious, and charitable purposes, may be exempted from taxation.

SEC. 4. Hereafter, no purchaser of any land or town lot, at any sale of lands or town lots for taxes due, either to this State or any county, or incorporated town or city within the same, or at any sale for taxes or levies authorized by the laws of this State, shall be entitled to a deed for the lands or town lots so purchased, until he or she shall have complied with the following conditions, to-wit: Such purchaser shall serve or cause to be served, a written notice of such purchase on every person in possession of such land or town lot, three months before the expiration of the time of redemption on such sale; in which notice he shall state when he purchased the land or town lot, the description of the land or lot he has purchased, and when the time of redemption will expire. In like manner he shall serve on the person or persons in whose name or names such land or lot is taxed, a similar written notice, if such person or persons shall reside in the county where such land or lot shall be situated; and in the event that the person or persons in whose name or names the land or lot is taxed, do not reside in the county, such purchaser shall publish such notice in some newspaper printed in such county; and if no newspaper is printed in the county, then in the nearest newspaper, that is published in this State, to the county in which such lot or land is situated; which notice shall be inserted three times; the last time not less than three months before the time of redemption shall expire. Every such purchaser, by himself or agent, shall, before he shall be entitled to a deed, make an affidavit of his having complied with the conditions of this section, stating particularly the facts relied on as such compliance; which affidavit shall be delivered to the person authorized by law to execute such tax deed, and which shall by him be filed with the officer having custody of the records of lands and lots sold for taxes and the entries of redemption in the county where such land or lot shall lie, to be by such officer entered on the records of his office, and carefully preserved among the files of his office; and which record or affidavit shall be prima facie evidence that such notice has been given. Any person swearing falsely in such affidavit shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and punished accordingly. In case any person shall be compelled, under this section, to publish a notice in a newspaper, then, before any person who may have a right to redeem such land or lot from such tax sale shall be permitted to redeem, he or she shall pay the officer or person who by law is authorized to receive such redemption money, the printer's fee for publishing such notice, and the expenses of swearing or affirming to the affidavit, and filing the same.

SEC. 5. The corporate authorities of counties, townships, school districts, cities, towns, and villages, may be vested with power to assess and collect taxes for corporate purposes; such taxes to be uniform in respect to persons and property within the jurisdiction of the body imposing the same. And the General Assembly shall require that all the property within the limits of municipal corporations, belonging to individuals, shall be taxed for the payment of debts contracted under authority of law.

SEC. 6. The specifications of the objects and subjects of taxation shall not deprive the General Assembly of the power to require other objects or subjects to be taxed, in such manner as may be consistent with the principles of taxation fixed in this Constitution.

ARTICLE X.

CORPORATIONS.

SEC. 1. Corporations not possessing banking powers or privileges may be formed under general laws, but shall not be created by special acts, except for municipal purposes, and in cases where, in the judgment of the General Assembly, the objects of the corporation can not be attained under general laws.

SEC. 2. Dues from corporations not possessing banking powers or privileges, shall be secured by such individual liabilities of the corporators, or other means, as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 3. No State Bank shall hereafter be created, nor shall the State own, or be liable for, any stock in any corporation or joint stock association for banking purposes, to be hereafter created.

SEC. 4. The stockholders in every corporation, or joint stock association for banking purposes, issuing bank notes, or any kind of paper credits to circulate as money, shall be individually responsible, to the amount of their respective share or shares of stock in any such corporation or association, for all its debts and liabilities of every kind.

SEC. 5. No act of the General Assembly authorizing corporations or associations with banking powers, shall go into effect, or in any manner be in force, unless the same shall be submitted to the people at the general election next succeeding the passage of the same, and be approved by a majority of all the votes cast at such election for and against such law.

SEC. 6. The General Assembly shall encourage internal improvements, by passing liberal laws of incorporation for that purpose.

ARTICLE XI.

COMMONS.

All lands which have been granted as a "common" to the inhabitants of any town, hamlet, village, or corporation, by any person, body politic or corporate, or by any government having power to make such grant, shall forever remain common to the inhabitants of such town, hamlet, village, or corporation; but the said commons, or any of them, or any part thereof, may be divided, leased, or granted, in such manner as may hereafter be provided by law, on petition of a majority of the qualified voters interested in such common, or any of them.

ARTICLE XII.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

SEC. 1. Whenever two-thirds of all the members elected to each branch of the General Assembly shall think it necessary to alter or amend this Constitution, they shall recommend to the electors at the next election of members of the General Assembly, to vote for or against a convention; and if it shall appear that a majority of all the electors of the State voting for representatives have voted for a convention, the General Assembly shall, at their next session, call a convention, to consist of as many members as the House of Representatives at the time of making said call, to be chosen in the same manner, at the same place, and by the same electors, in the same districts that chose the members of the House of Representatives; and which convention shall meet within three months after the said election, for the purpose of revising, altering, or amending this Constitution.

SEC. 2. Any amendment or amendments to this Constitution may be proposed in either branch of the General Assembly; and if the same shall be agreed to by two-thirds of all the members elect in each of the two Houses, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be referred to the next regular session of the General Assembly, and shall be published at least three months previous to the time of holding the next election for members of the House of Representatives; and if, at the next regular session of the General Assembly after said election, a majority of all the members elect in each branch of the General Assembly shall agree to said amendment or amendments, then it shall be their duty to submit the same to the people at the next general election, for their adoption or rejection, in such manner as may be prescribed by law; and if a majority of all the electors voting at such election for members of the House of Representatives shall vote for such amendment or amendments, the same shall become a part of the Constitution. But the General Assembly shall not have power to propose an amendment or amendments to more than one article of the Constitution at the same session.

ARTICLE XIII.

That the general, great, and essential principles of liberty and free government may be recognized and unalterably established, WE DECLARE :

SEC. 1. That all men are born equally free and independent, and have certain inherent and indefeasible rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty, and of acquiring, possessing, and protecting property and reputation, and of pursuing their own happiness.

SEC. 2. That all power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their peace, safety, and happiness.

SEC. 3. That all men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences; that no man can of right be compelled to attend, erect, or support any place of worship, or to maintain any ministry against his consent; that no human authority can, in any case whatever, control or interfere with the rights of conscience; and that no preference shall ever be given by law to any religious establishments or modes of worship.

SEC. 4. That no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under this State.

SEC. 5. That all elections shall be free and equal.

SEC. 6. That the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, and shall extend to all cases at law, without regard to the amount in controversy.

SEC. 7. That the people shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and possessions, from unreasonable searches and seizures; and that general warrants, whereby an officer may be commanded to search suspected places without evidence of the fact committed, or to seize any person or persons not named, whose offenses are not particularly described and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be granted.

SEC. 8. That no freeman shall be imprisoned or disseized of his freehold, liberties, or privileges, or outlawed or exiled, or in any manner deprived of his life, liberty, or property, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land.

SEC. 9. That in all criminal prosecutions the accused hath a right to be heard by himself and counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him; to meet the witnesses face to face; to have compulsory process to compel the attendance of witnesses in his favor; and in prosecutions by indictment or information, a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district wherein the offense shall be committed, which county or district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and that he shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself.

SEC. 10. No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense unless on the presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases of impeachment, or in cases cognizable by Justices of the Peace, or arising in the army or navy, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger: Provided, that Justices of the Peace shall try no person, except as a court of inquiry, for any offense punishable with imprisonment or death, or fine above one hundred dollars.

SEC. 11. No person shall, for the same offense, be twice put in jeopardy of his life or limb; nor shall any man's property be taken or applied to public use without the consent of his representatives in the General Assembly, nor without just compensation being made to him.

SEC. 12. Every person within this State ought to find a certain remedy in the laws for all injuries or wrongs which he may receive in his person, property, or character; he ought to obtain right and justice freely, and without being obliged to purchase it, completely and without denial, promptly and without delay, conformably to the laws.

SEC. 13. That all persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offenses where the proof is evident or the presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

SEC. 14. All penalties shall be proportioned to the nature of the offense; the true design of all punishment being to reform, not to exterminate mankind.

SEC. 15. No person shall be imprisoned for debt unless upon refusal to deliver up his estate for the benefit of his creditors, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law, or in cases where there is strong presumption of fraud.

SEC. 16. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in this State, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

SEC. 17. No ex post facto law, nor any law impairing the obligation of contracts, shall ever be made; and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

SEC. 18. That no person shall be liable to be transported out of this State for any offense committed within the same.

SEC. 19. That a frequent recurrence to the fundamental principles of civil government is absolutely necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty.

SEC. 20. The military shall be in strict subordination to the civil power.

SEC. 21. That the people have a right to assemble together in a peaceable manner to consult for their common good, to instruct their representatives, and to apply to the General Assembly for redress of grievances.

SEC. 22. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, except in manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 23. The printing presses shall be free to every person who undertakes to examine the proceedings of the General Assembly, or of any branch of government, and no law shall ever be made to restrain the right thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man, and every citizen may freely speak, write, and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty.

SEC. 24. In prosecutions for the publication of papers investigating the official conduct of officers, or of men acting in a public capacity, or when the matter published is proper for public information, the truth thereof may be given in evidence; and in all indictments for libels, the jury shall have the right of determining both the law and the fact, under the direction of the Court, as in other cases.

SEC. 25. Any person who shall, after the adoption of this Constitution, fight a duel, or send or accept a challenge for that purpose, or be aider or abettor in fighting a duel, shall be deprived of the right of holding any office of honor or profit in this State, and shall be punished otherwise, in such manner as is or may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 26. That from and after the adoption of this Constitution, every person who shall be elected or appointed to any office of profit, trust, or emolument, civil or military, legislative, executive, or judicial, under the government of this State, shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, in addition to the oath prescribed in this Constitution, take the following oath: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that I have not fought a duel, nor sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel, the probable issue of which might have been the death of either party, nor been a second to either party, nor in any manner aided or assisted in such duel, nor been knowingly the bearer of such challenge or acceptance, since the adoption of the Constitution, and that I will not be so engaged or concerned, directly or indirectly, in or about any such duel, during my continuance in office. So help me God."

ARTICLE XIV.

The General Assembly shall, at its first session under the amended Constitution, pass such laws as will effectually prohibit free persons of color from immigrating to and settling in this State; and to effectually prevent the owners of slaves from bringing them into this State for the purpose of setting them free.

ARTICLE XV.

There shall be annually assessed and collected in the same manner as other State revenue may be assessed and collected, a tax of two mills upon each dollar's worth of taxable property, in addition to all other taxes, to be applied as follows, to-wit: the fund so created shall be kept separate, and shall annually, on the first day of January, be apportioned and paid over pro rata upon all such State indebtedness, other than the canal and school indebtedness, as may for that purpose be presented by the holders of the same, to be entered as credits upon, and to that intent, in extinguishment of the principal of said indebtedness.

SCHEDULE.

That no inconvenience may arise from the alterations and amendments made in the Constitution of this State, and to carry the same into complete effect, it is hereby ordained and declared—

SEC. 1. That all laws in force at the adoption of this Constitution, not inconsistent therewith, and all rights, actions, prosecutions, claims, and contracts of this State, individuals or bodies corporate, shall continue and be as valid as if this Constitution had not been adopted.

SEC. 2. That all fines, penalties, and forfeitures due and owing to the State of Illinois under the present Constitution and laws, shall inure to the use of the people of the State of Illinois under this Constitution.

SEC. 3. Recognizances, bonds, obligations, and all other instruments entered into or executed before the adoption of this Constitution, to the people of the State of Illinois, to any State or county officer or public body, shall remain binding and valid, and rights and liabilities upon the same shall continue, and all crimes and misdemeanors shall be tried and punished as though no change had been made in the Constitution of the State.

SEC. 4. That "Article XI," entitled "commons," is hereby adopted as a part of the Constitution of this State, without being submitted to be voted upon by the people.

SEC. 5. That at the first election fixed by this Constitution for the election of Judges, there shall be elected one Circuit Judge in each of the nine judicial circuits now established in this State.

SEC. 6. The County Commissioners' Courts and the Probate Justices of the several counties shall continue in existence and exercise their present jurisdiction until the County Court, provided in this Constitution, is organized in pursuance of an act of the General Assembly, to be passed at its first session.

SEC. 7. That the Clerk of the Circuit Court, in each county fixed by this Constitution as the place for holding the Supreme Court, except in the county of Sangamon, shall be, ex-officio, Clerk of the Supreme Court until the clerks of said court shall be elected and qualified, as provided in this Constitution; and all laws now in force in relation to the Clerk of the Supreme Court, shall be applicable to said clerks and their duties.

SEC. 8. That the Sheriffs, State's Attorneys, and all other officers elected under this Constitution, shall perform such duties as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 9. That the oaths of office herein required to be taken may be administered by a Justice of the Peace until otherwise provided by law.

SEC. 10. That this Constitution shall be submitted to the people for their adoption or rejection at an election to be held on the first Monday in March, A. D. 1848; and there shall also be submitted for adoption or rejection, at the same time, the separate articles in relation to the emigration of colored persons and the public debt.

SEC. 11. That every person entitled to vote for members of the General Assembly, by the Constitution and laws now in force, shall, on the first Monday in March, A. D. 1848, be entitled to vote for the adoption or rejection of this Constitution, and for and against the aforesaid articles separately submitted, and the said qualified electors shall vote in the counties in which they respectively reside, at the usual places of voting, and not elsewhere; and the said election shall be conducted according to the laws now in force in relation to the election of Governor, so far as applicable, except as herein otherwise provided.

SEC. 12. That the poll book to be used at said election shall, as nearly as practicable, be in the following form, to-wit:

POLL BOOK of an election held at ——— precinct, in the county of ———, on the first Monday of March, A. D. 1848, for the adoption or rejection of the Constitution and the several articles submitted.

Names of the voters.	Adoption of Constitution.	Rejection of Constitution.	For the article in relation to colored persons.	Against the article in relation to colored persons.	For the article for the two mill tax.	Against the article for the two mill tax.
A. B .....	1	.....	1	.....	1	.....
C. D .....	.....	1	2	.....	2	.....
[E. F.] .....	2	.....	.....	1	3	.....
[G. H.] .....	.....	.....	3	.....	.....	1

SEC. 13. That the returns of the votes for the adoption or rejection of this Constitution, and for and against the separate articles submitted, shall be made to the Secretary of State within fifty days after the election, and the returns of the votes shall, within five days thereafter, be examined and canvassed by the Auditor, Treasurer, and Secretary of State, or any two of them, in the presence of the Governor, and proclamation shall be made by the Governor forthwith of the result of the polls. If it shall appear that a majority of all the votes polled are for the adoption of this Constitution, it shall be the supreme law of the land from and after the first day of April, A. D. 1848, but if it shall appear that a majority of the votes polled were given against the Constitution, the same shall be null and void. If it shall further appear that a majority of the votes polled shall have been given for the separate article in relation to colored persons, or the article for the two mill tax, then said article or articles shall be and form a part of this Constitution; otherwise said article or articles shall be null and void.

SEC. 14. That if this Constitution shall be ratified by the people, the Governor shall forthwith, after having ascertained the fact, issue writs of election to the Sheriffs of the several counties in this State, or, in case of vacancy, to the Coroners, for the election of all the officers, the time of whose election is fixed by this Constitution or schedule; and it shall be the duty of said Sheriffs or Coroners to give at least twenty days' notice of the time and place of said election, in the manner now prescribed by law.

SEC. 15. The General Assembly shall, at its first session after the adoption of this Constitution, provide by law for the mode of voting by ballot, and also for the manner of returning, canvassing, and certifying the number of votes cast at any election; and until said law shall be passed, all elections shall be viva voce, and the laws now in force regulating elections shall continue in force until the General Assembly shall provide otherwise as herein directed.

SEC. 16. That the first general election of Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, and members of the General Assembly, and of such other officers as are to be elected at the same time, shall be held on the first Monday of August, eighteen hundred and forty-eight, anything in this Constitution to the contrary notwithstanding. County officers then elected shall hold their respective offices until their successors are elected or appointed, in conformity with laws hereafter enacted.

SEC. 17. That returns of the election of Justices of the Supreme and Judges of the Circuit Courts, Secretary of State, Auditor, and Treasurer, shall be made and canvassed as is now provided by law for representatives in Congress; and returns for members of the General Assembly and county officers shall be made and canvassed as is now provided by law.

SEC. 18. That all laws of the State of Illinois, and all official writings, and the executive, legislative, and judicial proceedings, shall be conducted, preserved, and published in no other than the English language.

SEC. 19. On the first Monday in December, one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, the term of office of Judges of the Supreme Court, State's Attorneys, and of the Clerks of the Supreme and Circuit Courts, shall expire; and on the said day the term of office of the Judges, State's Attorneys, and Clerks elected under the provisions of this Constitution, shall commence. The Judges of the Supreme Court, elected as aforesaid, shall have and exercise the powers and jurisdiction conferred upon the present Judges of that Court; and the said judges of the Circuit Courts shall have and exercise the powers and jurisdiction conferred upon the Judges of those Courts, subject to the provisions of this Constitution.

SEC. 20. On the first Monday in December, one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, jurisdiction of all suits and proceedings then pending in the present Supreme Court shall become vested in the Supreme Court established by this Constitution, and shall be finally adjudicated by the Court where the same may be pending. The jurisdiction of all suits and proceedings then pending in the Circuit Courts of the several counties shall be vested in the Circuit Courts of said counties.

SEC. 21. The Cook and Jo Daviess County Courts shall continue to exist, and the Judge and other officers of the same remain in office until otherwise provided by law.

Governor John M. Palmer's Military Career.

[From the Western Monthly.]

In 1861 Gov. Palmer was a delegate to the Peace Convention which met at Washington; and, with the object of avoiding the dread result of war, went down into the valley of humility to attain the desired result. It is well known that all peace efforts were unsuccessful, as any would have been.

Upon the complete establishment of this now indubitable fact, Mr. Palmer was for war. He drew his sword and threw away the scabbard. Of his military history we have but space for the merest outline: On the second call of the General Government for troops, Mr. Palmer volunteered in the ranks. He was unanimously elected Colonel of the Fourteenth Illinois Infantry. After some time spent for drill and discipline at Jacksonville, the regiment moved to Northern Missouri. The command was well occupied, and took part in sundry marches and expeditions, but had no actual battle during the year. Col. Palmer had been much of the time in command of a brigade, and, exhibiting fine soldierly qualities, was appointed a Brigadier General, December 20, 1861.

Early in the following year, General Palmer, in command of a division, took part in the laborious operations and brilliant successes of General John Pope against New Madrid and Island No. 10. In the reduction of Island No. 10, General Palmer held the most difficult position and performed the most important and soldierly services throughout. Pope moved against Fort Pillow after the success of New Madrid, but was ordered to join Halleck, besieging Corinth. There were many fine exploits by different parts of the army during this noted siege, but none was, perhaps, more brilliant than General Palmer's affair near Farmington, on the 8th of May, when, with a brigade of troops, he fairly repulsed three divisions of rebels, inflicting upon them heavy losses, and extricating his command from a dangerous position with brilliant dash and consummate skill. After a considerable illness, General Palmer was assigned to the command of the first division of the Army of the Mississippi, and ordered to join General Buell. His services in Tennessee were more valuable than brilliant, whether in the field, or sustaining, with Negley, the "blockade" of Nashville. In the great contest known as the battle of Stone River, General Palmer acted a brilliant part. His division, during several hours of the 31st of December, held the advance of the right wing, and stood like a rock, whilst other portions of that part of the army were swept away by the rebels. A highly intelligent correspondent of the Chicago Tribune newspaper, in an exhaustive narrative of this remarkable battle, justly attributed a high measure of praise to General Palmer for the bravery, endurance, and skill with which he held his position and saved the day on his part of the lines.

In the last pitched battle in which Rosecrans held the chief command of the Union troops, it is sufficient here to say that Palmer commanded a division under General George H. Thomas—"the Rock of Chickamauga," against which the gates of rebeldom did not prevail. Soon after this battle, Rosecrans was relieved, and Grant soon fought the great battle of Chattanooga, which effectually broke the backbone of the rebellion. In the great operations of General Sherman in 1864, General Palmer, who had been made a Major General of Volunteers for gallantry at Stone River, had command of the Fourteenth Army Corps until after the fall of Atlanta, when he asked to be relieved. To give a complete sketch of his life during this stirring period, would be to give a pretty full view of the bravest campaign of the war, with which his command was so honorably and prominently connected. His subsequent military administration of the affairs of Kentucky was a manifestation of soldierly and statesmanlike qualities which have not often been combined in one person.

NOTARIES PUBLIC IN ILLINOIS.

Notaries Public are appointed for four years by the Governor upon petition, which must have fifty signers, all legal voters, who have not signed a like petition within the past four years from the date of the same. In case of re-appointment, no petition is required. The number of Notaries allowed by law is as follows :

For each County.....	TWO.
For each Township or Precinct.....	TEN.
For each City or Village in the Township, or in the Precinct.....	FIVE.
For each City with a population not exceeding five thousand.....	THIRTY.
For each City with a population over five thousand, and not exceeding } ten thousand.....	FORTY.
"And in addition" for every five thousand inhabitants over ten thousand....	ONE.

The only record of appointment, qualification, and commission of Notaries, is with the Secretary of State, who is the only person authorized by law to certify to the official status of any Notary Public in the State of Illinois.

The following list contains the names of all Notaries who were commissioned during four years on and before the 10th day of December, 1869 :

ILLINOIS STATE INSTITUTIONS.

STATE NORMAL UNIVERSITY.

---

NORMAL, McLEAN COUNTY.

This is an institution for the education of teachers for the Public Schools of the State. The law establishing it received the Governor's approval on the 18th day of February, 1857. It is governed by a board, known as the "Board of Education of the State of Illinois," consisting of fifteen members. The State Superintendent of Public Instruction is, ex-officio, a member and the Secretary. The other fourteen members are appointed by the Governor and approved by the Senate, the term of office being six years. One-third of the fourteen, or as near it as may be, go out of office every two years, so that only one-third of the board is changed at any one time, except in case of resignations. Every county in Illinois is entitled to gratuitous instruction for two pupils, and every representative district for one. Instruction is given in language, science, mathematics, and especially in the theory and practice of teaching. Every student receiving gratuitous instruction is required to sign a written pledge to teach in Illinois.

Beside the professional school just referred to, there is a school for general culture, called the Model School. In this, tuition fees are charged. The classes in the Model School are taught, to a great extent, by the pupils of the professional department. The Model School has three grades: The High School, with an extended and thorough course of linguistic and scientific studies; the Grammar School; the Intermediate and Primary School.

BAKER - CHICAGO

PLATE 17 - 47 - 1840

In all departments, the students are of both sexes. On the 1st of December, 1869, the number was as follows :

In the Professional Department.....	320
In the Model School.....	272
Total .....	592

About sixty per cent. are females.

There is a sufficient amount of apparatus, and the chemical laboratory is well furnished. A large and well arranged Museum of Geology and Natural History is kept in the building. It is under the care of Professor John W. Powell, of Colorado fame.

State Board of Education.—Hon. Samuel W. Moulton, Shelbyville, President; Hon. Newton Bateman, LL. D., Springfield ex-officio a member, and Secretary; C. W. Holder, Esq., Bloomington, Treas.; John H. Foster, M. D., Chicago; Walter L. Mayo, Esq., Alton; Hon. Jesse H. Moore, Decatur; Thomas R. Leal, Esq., Urbana; Henry Wing, M. D., Collinsville; Benaiah G. Faculty.—Richard Edwards, LL. D., President, Professor of Mental Science and Didalectics; Edwin C. Hewett, A. M., Professor of History; Joseph A. Sewall, M. D., Professor of Natural Science; Thomas Metcalf, A. M., Professor of Mathematics; Albert Stetson, A. M., Professor of Language; Miss Emaline Dryer, Preceptress and Instructress in Grammar and Drawing; John W. Powell, A. M., Professor of Geology and Curator of Museum; John W. Cook, Professor of Reading and Elocution; Henry McCormick, Professor of Geography; Wm. L. Pillsbury, A. M., Principal of High School; Mrs. Martha D. L. Haynie, Assist. in High School; Joseph Carter, Principal of Grammar School; Miss Mary Pennell, Assistant; Miss Lucia Kingsley, Principal of Intermediate and Primary School.

THE ILLINOIS INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE DEAF AND DUMB.

JACKSONVILLE, MORGAN COUNTY.

Was incorporated February 23d, 1839. The act of incorporation was prepared by Hon. O. H. Browning, of Adams county, and located the Institution at Jacksonville, Illinois. None of the original members of the Board of Directors are now connected with the Institution. The school was opened in 1846, by Mr. Thomas Officer, who had shortly before been elected Principal of the Institution. The selection of Mr. Officer was a most happy one, as few persons are so well adapted by temperament, energy, and talent, to inaugurate such an enterprise.

The site of the Institution is an eligible and healthy one, in the suburbs of Jacksonville. The buildings are large, but of late years, very much crowded by the increasing number of pupils who flock to its halls. They are warmed with steam and lighted with gas. The projected water works of the city of Jacksonville will shortly furnish the Institution with an abundant supply of water, which essential article has heretofore been attainable only in quantities too limited to meet the requirements of an establishment of such magnitude.

In point of efficiency, this Institution is considered equal to any in the country. The Board of Directors, in an enlightened as well as philanthropic spirit of enterprise, have organized a department of articulation, which is as yet experimental, but gives encouraging promise of success.

The Institution comprises a literary and industrial department. The forepart of each day is devoted wholly to the former, and the afterpart to the latter. In the latter, printing, cabinet-making, carpentering, shoemaking, and farming are taught. Female pupils are instructed in needle-work and some kinds of domestic employment.

This Institution is a part of the educational system of the State, and admits pupils from Illinois as the common schools of the State do their scholars, free of charge. There have been seven hundred and forty pupils enrolled since its organization. The actual attendance at the present time is two hundred and forty-five.

The Board of Directors consists of the following gentlemen: Hon. Robert Beal, of Peoria county, President; Hon. Jno. A. Chestnut, of Sangamon county; Wm. P. Barr, of Morgan county; Philip G. Gillett, of Morgan county, Secretary.

All communications respecting the admission of pupils, or on business of the Institution, should be addressed to Philip G. Gillett, A. M., Principal, Jacksonville, Illinois.

The officers of the Institution are,

Principal.—Philip G. Gillett, A. M.

Teachers.—Selah Wait, Chas. H. Laughlin, John H. Woods, A. M.; Franklin Read, Cornelia Trask, Elvira P. Gage, Anna B. Osgood, John W. Sculer, A. M., Isabelle E. Woods, Hervey W. Milligan, M. D.; Henry C. Hammond, A. B.; Mary Dutch, Gertrude M. Whipple, James H. Logan.

Matrons.—Maria Lawyer, Kate Bull, Letetia Westgate, Martha Buley.

Clerk.—Frank Hine.

Physician.—Chas. H. Knight, M. D.

Foreman of Farm.—Abel L. Hay.

Foreman of Cabinet Shop.—Jacob Brown.

Foreman of Shoe Shop.—John H. Hunt.

Foreman of Printing Office.—Berzaiel B. Andrews.

Machinist.—James O. Lord.

ILLINOIS INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE BLIND.

JACKSONVILLE, MORGAN CO.

The State of Illinois, by act of the Legislature, Approved January 13, 1849, made appropriations, and authorized the purchase of not less than ten, nor more than forty acres of ground in or near Jacksonville, Illinois. In this act it was defined to be the object and duty of the corporation "to qualify, as far as practicable, that unfortunate class of persons for the enjoyment of the blessings of a free government, obtaining the means of subsistence, and the discharge of those duties, social and political, devolving upon American citizens."

All blind persons residing in Illinois, of suitable age and capacity to receive instruction, are to be received and taught in the Institution. The pupils are, at the expense of the State, to be taught, furnished with books, boarding, lodging, &c.

February 3, 1849, the Board of Trustees organized by the election of the Hon. Samuel D. Lockwood as President, and James Berdan as Secretary

Twenty-two acres, on which the Institution is now located, were purchased at seventy-five dollars per acre, on May 12, 1849. The officers of the Board of Trustees, as well as of the school department, have seldom been changed. Hon. S. D. Lockwood, now of Batavia, acted as President of the Board of Trustees, until his removal from Jacksonville, March 14, 1853.

Matthew Stacy, Esq., was unanimously elected to succeed him as President, on March 14th, 1853, and has continued to preside over the Institution to this time—a period of over sixteen years.

Three hundred and fifty blind have been admitted, and provided by the State of Illinois with instruction and support. Two hundred and seventy have left, having completed their course of instruction and returned to their homes. Some of them have become valuable members of society and useful citizens.

The buildings erected in 1849–53 were commodious and amply furnished with every article conducive to the welfare of the Blind. On April 20th, 1869, the building caught fire in the attic, from a defect in a smoke flue, and in a few hours became a mass of ruin. Since that event, from insurance money, &c., received, a building finally intended to become a wing to a completed building is almost finished, and we hope to open school in it in January, 1870. Illinois opens her benevolent Institutions to all her citizens who may be the children of sorrow, without respect to their worldly position. The child of misfortune and want is seated at the same table, and partakes of the same instruction, as the child of the owner of thousands of acres of its fertile prairies.

The officers of this Institution are the following:

Trustees. —Matthew Stacy, President; Wm. A. Grimshaw, E. B. Hawley.	Assistant Matron. —Ada Roberts.
Superintendent. —Joshua Rhoads, M. D.	Teachers. —John Loomis, Literature; Fanny Maginnis, Literature; A. E. Wimmerstedt, Music; Peter Dunlap, Manual Labor.
Matron. —Rosanna I. Rhoads.

ILLINOIS INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN.

JACKSONVILLE, MORGAN CO.

This institution was organized by act of Legislature, in 1865, as an "Experimental School for the instruction and training of idiots and feeble-minded children in the State of Illinois."

It is located at Jacksonville, on leased property (the late Governor Duncan's estate), and is under the direction of the Board of Directors of the Illinois Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb.

Officers of the Institution.—C. I. Wilbur, M. D., Superintendent; Mrs. L. P. Wilbur, Matron; Miss S. Lucelia Robinson, Teacher; Miss Mate Stoddard, Teacher; Miss Alice E. Brainard, Teacher; John Donovan, Clerk.

The institution has been in operation nearly five years. There are now three hundred applications for the admission of pupils on file at the institution, and sixty-five pupils present.

The appropriation for its support is twenty thousand dollars per annum. No board or tuition is charged during the regular school term, and it is the aim of the managers to have each Senatorial District of the State fairly represented.

Custodial cases are not received, but only children who are susceptible of improvement.

The school rooms are furnished with desirable apparatus for illustration, and the whole plan of the exercises is designed to attain for each pupil the highest mental and physical development possible, and by the most rapid progress.

Applications for admission should be sent to—and information in relation to the institution can be obtained by addressing—Dr C. T. WILBUR, Supt. Institution for Feeble Minded Children, Jacksonville, Ill.

ILLINOIS SOLDIERS' ORPHANS' HOME.

NEAR NORMAL, MCLEAN CO.

The Illinois Soldiers' Orphans' Home was incorporated by an act of the Legislature, approved February 16th, 1865, and subsisted entirely upon private charity until, by an act approved March 5th, 1867, a certain fund in the hands of the Governor, known as the "deserters' fund," was donated to the Home and further appropriations also made. Commissioners, appointed under the last named act by the Governor, located the Home on a high and commanding section of land, donated by Judge David Davis, adjoining the thriving village of Normal, Ill. A better selection could hardly have been made; beautiful, healthy, with fine railroad advantages. The building is a splendid looking structure, built in the Romanesque style of architecture, three stories of brick, with a basement of stone. It is plain, but substantial in finish, more attention being given to such arrangements as would secure the comfort and health of its inmates, and to ample space. Before the present "Home" was completed, three temporary ones were established—one at Springfield and two at Bloomington, Ill., and on the 2nd day of June, 1869, the children in these Homes were moved into the new building, and on the 17th day of June, 1869, the "Home" was formally dedicated, Ex-Governor Richard J. Oglesby delivering the dedicatory address. The occasion was one of much interest, and great satisfaction was expressed by the numerous visitors at the admirable arrangement of the different departments of the building, the excellent facilities enjoyed for the care and culture of its inmates, and at its satisfactory and successful management. The building will furnish ample accommodation for three hundred children, and there are now in the institution two hundred and seventy inmates, with numerous applications on file with the Secretary.

The Board of Trustees consists of Col. James M. Beardsley, of Rock Island, President; Col. John M. Snyder, of Springfield, Secretary; and Hon. Jesse A. Willson, of Bloomington, Treasurer.

The officers of the Home are Mrs. Col. S. P. Ohr, Superintendent; Miss Mary A. Hughes, Assistant Superintendent; Mr. John S. Clark, Steward; Dr. John Sweeney, Physician.

The teachers are Mrs. Clara E. Watts, Miss Emma M. Plummer, Miss Louisa Ray, and Miss Mary J. Abraham.

ILLINOIS INDUSTRIAL UNIVERSITY.

FRANCIS CHANDLER & CO. N.Y.

As is known to all, this is an institution erected by the people of the State of Illinois—a lasting monument of their generosity and their patriotism, whose object it is to receive in sacred trust the indigent orphan children of those who, going from our own State, with their lives in their hands, periled all, and in defense of our common country's life, lost all, but honor. It is no ordinary obligation we are under to protect their homeless, friendless little ones, but our highest privilege, as well as our most sacred duty, and one which should animate every loyal citizen of our noble State, who appreciates the heroism they manifested, and enjoys the blessings of a government they saved.

THE ILLINOIS SOLDIERS' COLLEGE.

FULTON, WHITESIDE CO., ILL.

The Illinois Soldiers' College was founded at Fulton, Ill., by patriotic citizens of the State, at the close of the war of the Rebellion, for the purpose of securing to the disabled soldiers and to the orphans of deceased soldiers the benefits of a thorough and practical education. It was intended to make the Institution a MONUMENTAL College—a MEMORIAL of the patriotism, courage and intelligence of Illinois Soldiers, and of the justice, honor and appreciative gratitude of her citizens. Splendid and costly hospitals, and homes and retreats and asylums, have been built for the soldiers all over the world, but the people of Illinois established for them a College. The College was opened for the reception of students, September 12th, 1866. In February, 1867, the Legislature of Illinois granted to the College a liberal charter, and made an appropriation to it of twenty-five thousand dollars a year for two years to assist in educating the disabled soldiers and orphans of the State. The Legislature of 1869 renewed the appropriations. The people of the State have contributed to the College, to purchase the buildings and support the disabled soldiers and orphans, about ninety-five thousand dollars. During the first year after the opening of the College there were in attendance 168 students, during the second year 250, and during the third year 257. The number for the current year will be about the same as for the last two years. The College accommodates with board and rooms 250 students.

Each county in the State has the right to appoint from two to four orphans or disabled soldiers to scholarships in the College. Tuition in all branches, board, and furnished rooms are free to such appointees. The preparatory course occupies two years—the scientific, four. One hundred and three different Illinois regiments were represented in the College last year.

Faculty.—Leander H. Potter, A. M., President of the College, Professor of Mental and Moral Science; Charles W. Feeks, A. M., Professor of Mathematics, Military and Commercial Science; Rev. Geo. W. Woodward, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages; Rev. Olin Mattison, Professor of Natural Science; Moses Soule, A. M., Instructor in Language; William H. Brydges, Instructor in Mathematics and Natural Science; John O. Garmon, Instructor in Penmanship.

ILLINOIS STATE HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE.

JACKSONVILLE, MORGAN CO.

The institution was founded by an act of incorporation passed March 1, 1847. Its origin was largely due to the labors and solicitations of that eminent friend of the insane, Miss D. L. Dix, who, in a memorial addressed to the General Assembly, pointed out the imperative necessity existing for such an institution, enforcing her appeal by many moving facts, gathered after visiting most parts of the State, and witnessing the deplorable condition of the insane, as a class, in the State. The first Superintendent was Dr. J. M. Higgins, elected August 12th, 1848. He resigned in March, 1854, when the institution was, for some months, under the care of Dr. H. K. Jones, as Superintendent pro tem. The present Superintendent, Dr. Andrew McFarland, was elected June, 1854, and re-elected June, 1864.

Attached to the institution is a farm of one hundred and sixty acres, in a high state of cultivation—a portion of it being laid out into vegetable and fruit gardens, lawns, and pleasure grounds. The entire capacity of the institution is for four hundred and fifty patients. The number at present is, on account of inadequate revenue, limited to about four hundred and twelve. The government of the institution is vested in a board of six trustees, appointed by the Governor of the State. The present trustees are:

E. G. Miner, Scott county, President; J. T. Eccles, Montgomery county; F. A. Hoffman, DuPage county; Fernando Jones, Cook county; I. L. Morrison, Morgan county; (vacancy). E. P. Kirby, Secretary and Treasurer.

Andrew McFarland, M. D., Superintendent and Physician; H. A. Gilman, M. D., (vacancy), Ass't Physicians; C. A. Barker, Clerk; Miss Mary Johnston, Matron; Mr. D. H. Hall, Male Supervisor; Mrs. Isabella Hall, Mrs. Nancy McCartney, Supervisoresses.

The number of attendants upon the patients, and of all others engaged in the service of the institution, is about seventy.

The entire cost of the institution, including lands, buildings, stock, fixtures, and furniture, has been not far from $600,000. The annual expense of its maintenance is about $110,000. About three-fourths of this is paid by the State, and the remainder is derived from the board of pay-patients. This latter is an assessed rate, made according to the ability of parties, and ranging from $1.50 to $7 per week.

ILLINOIS INDUSTRIAL UNIVERSITY.

The University is located between the contiguous cities of Urbana and Champaign, 128 miles from Chicago, on the Chicago branch of the Illinois Central Railroad. It was first opened for the reception of students on Monday, the 2d day of March, 1868. The Industrial University was founded by an act of the Legislature, approved February 28, 1867, and endowed by the Congressional grant of four hundred and eighty thousand acres of land scrip, under the law providing for Agricultural Colleges. It was further enriched by the donation of Champaign county, of farms, buildings, and bonds, valued at $400,000.

The main University building is of brick, one hundred and twenty-five feet in length, and five stories in height. Its public rooms are sufficient for the accommodation of over four hundred students, and it has private study and sleeping rooms for one hundred and twenty.

The University domain, including ornamental and parade grounds, experimental and model farms, gardens, etc., comprises over one thousand acres of land. The chief aim of the University is "THE LIBERAL AND PRACTICAL EDUCATION OF THE INDUSTRIAL CLASSES in the several pursuits and professions in life."

The Departments of study are: Agriculture; Natural and Mechanical Philosophy and Astronomy; Military tactics and Engineering; Chemistry; Natural History; Pure Mathematics; Civil Engineering; English, French, German, Latin, and Greek Languages, and Literature; History and Social Science; Commercial; Mental and Moral Science; Lecture Courses, &c.

Young men, wishing to enter the University, the following directions are given:

1st. If you are over fifteen years of age, of good habits, and have a fair knowledge of the common school branches, Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, and History of the United States, you may enter, and take any course of study you are prepared for. The further advanced in study, the better you will be prepared to secure the full advantages of a residence at the University.

2d. You should enter at the beginning of a term; but you may enter at any other time if prepared to go forward with any of the classes.

3d. If doubtful of your ability to enter the departments you have selected, write to the Regent, J. M. Gregory, Champaign, and state what branches you have studied, the progress you have made in each, and your wishes as to course and term of study.

4th. If prepared, come on at once, bringing with you, if practicable, a letter of recommendation from your last teacher, or County Superintendent of Schools, or any good citizen.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

Members ex-officio.—Hon. John M. Palmer, Governor; Hon. Newton Bateman, LL. D., Sup't of Public Instruction; Dr. William Kile, President State Agricultural Society; John M. Gregory, LL. D., Regent of University.

ILLINOIS STATE PENITENTIARY.

JOLIET, WILL COUNTY.

The erection of the new State Penitentiary was authorized by an act of the legislature, approved February 19, 1857. The location was made in the same year at Joliet. The work was immediately taken up, and in 1859 part of the convicts were removed from the old State Penitentiary at Alton to Joliet. As the work progressed, convicts were added until the building was completed, when the Alton Penitentiary was given up.

Description of the New Buildings and Grounds.—Whole area belonging to the State, 72 19-100 acres. Whole area within main wall, 16 acres. Main wall, 25 feet high and 6 feet thick. 100 cells, for Separate System, 7x15 ft. and 15 ft. high. 900 cells for Congregate System, and 100 cells for females, 4x7 ft. and 7 ft. high. Each cell has a distinct ventilating tube extending to roof, with two registers in each. All partitions, floors, and ceilings of cells formed each of one stone 8 inches thick. All buildings and grounds are supplied with pure water

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS NORMAL UNIVERSITY.

CARBONDALE, JACKSON COUNTY.

This University was established by an act of the Legislature, approved March 9, 1869, and has been located by the Trustees on a site one-half a mile south of the centre of the city of Carbondale, Jackson county.

The site fronts fifty-four rods on the Illinois Central Railroad on the west side; it rises rapidly to the west to the height of forty or fifty feet above the Railroad level, and is both beautiful and commanding.

Carbondale is 56 miles north of Cairo, and is a thriving centre of trade for the southern portion of the State, being situated at the junction of Mt. Carbon Railroad with the Ill. Central. The contract to erect the University building, which is to be 208 by 108 feet 6 inches large, and two stories high, with Mansard roof and basement, has been let to J. M. Campbell. It is to be delivered to the Trustees, ready for occupation, on Sept. 1, 1871.

The Board of Trustees are Eli Bouyer, of Olney, President; Thomas W. Harris, of Shelbyville; Daniel Hurd of Cairo; Samuel E. Flannigan, of Benton, Secretary; and Elihu J. Palmer, of Freeburg, Building Superintendent.

STATE REFORM SCHOOL FOR JUVENILE OFFENDERS.

PONTIAC, LIVINGSTON COUNTY.

This noble State Institution was established by act of the Legislature of 1867, amended in 1869. The Trustees are: Hon. Samuel Moulton, of Shelbyville; L. A. Parks, of Alton; William Reynolds, of Peoria; John Early, of Rockford; Solon Kendall, of Geneseo; M. E. Collins, of Pontiac; and Wm. J. Yost, of Metropolis city. Jonathan Duff, of Pontiac, Treasurer; Valentine Jobst, of Peoria, Architect; Bloomington Manufacturing Co., Contractors.

This Institution was located July 7, 1869, at Pontiac, in Livingston county. The city of Pontiac gave $25,000 and the county of Livingston $50,000, in bonds, to secure the location; also the Chicago and Alton Railroad gave $5,000 in freights, and Jesse W. Fell & Bro., lands valued at $10,000. The Trustees purchased, in addition, other lands, making in all a beautiful tract of 172 acres adjoining Pontiac. The building is to be of stone and brick. The main central building will be 67 feet square, with wings 45 feet long, 35 feet wide on each side. The grounds and building, when fully ready for occupation, will cost about $150,000. The building is under contract, and it is the expectation of the Trustees to have it ready for pupils by Dec. 25, 1870.

Much credit is due to the hearts that conceived, and the heads and hands that are executing this noble work. It is to be hoped that it may soon be completed, and forever remain as an enduring monument of the progress and Christian civilization of the age.

NORTHERN ILLINOIS HOSPITAL AND ASYLUM FOR THE INSANE.

---

This Institution was created by an act of the Legislature, approved April 16, 1869. The Commissioners located the same upon a beautiful site just south of the city of Elgin. It comprises 155 acres fronting upon the Fox river, and rising to the west evenly and rapidly, giving a very fine view of the surrounding country. It is said to be a beautiful and healthy location. The plans are not yet matured, but will, when complete, probably embrace the congregate and cottage system. The Trustees appointed were C. N. Holden, of Chicago; Judge G. W. Pleasants, of Rock Island; and Dr. Oliver Evarts, of Dixon. Judge Pleasants having since resigned, Henry Sherman, from Elgin, was appointed by the Governor to fill his place. The erection of the building will undoubtedly go on in the spring.

NATIONAL LINCOLN MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.

SPRINGFIELD.

This Association filed its Certificate of Incorporation with the Secretary of State on May 11, 1865. The object of it is to construct a monument to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, in the city of Springfield.

The Association had, in December, 1869, about $155,663 46, contributed from various sources. The monument is now being erected in Oak Ridge Cemetery, at Springfield, where the remains of the patriot and statesman have been deposited. The design, which will be found in this book, was drawn by Larkin G. Meade. William Richardson was awarded the contract to erect and complete the architecture of the monument, including the entire work, except the statuary.

So far the foundation has been completed. The granite for the superstructure is being cut this winter in Quincy, Mass., and will be delivered in the spring of 1870. The Monument, with the exception of the statuary, will be completed during this year.

The Association, thus far, has incurred liabilities as follows: To W. Richardson, $130,550; to L. G. Mead, $15,200.

The statuary will soon be added, as it is to be hoped that funds enough may be contributed by the patriotic people, to complete this work at an early day.

Members and Officers of the Association.—Richard J. Oglesby, President; Jesse K. Dubois, Vice-President; O. M. Hatch, Secretary; Jas. H. Beveridge, Treasurer; Samuel S. Treat, John T. Stuart, Jacob Bunn, John Williams, Sharon Tyndale, O. H. Miner, Newton Bateman, Jas. C. Conkling, D. M. Phillips, Thos. J. Dennis, S. H. Melvin.

THE NEW STATE HOUSE.

SPRINGFIELD.

The erection of a new State House was provided for by an act of the legislature, approved February 25, 1867. The site was selected and purchased by the city of Springfield, for $70,000, and donated to the State. The original Board of Commissioners adopted the plans of J. C. Cochrane, Architect, of Chicago. Ground was first broken on the 14th day of June, 1868. A perspective of the building is contained in this book.

At the last session of the General Assembly, $650,000 was again appropriated toward the erection of the Capitol. So far the foundation is completed. The work will be taken up again in spring, and will be most vigorously carried on. In the mean time the necessary building material is being prepared for the purpose.

The Board of Commissioners has since been reduced to three, namely: Jacob Bunn, James C. Robinson, and James H. Beveridge, and was organized by the election of Jacob Bunn, President, and James H. Beveridge, Secretary. It has been decided by the board to use the stone from the quarry at Joliet, for the basement story. The cutting will be done in the Penitentiary. J. C. Cochrane is appointed Architect, and Cochrane and Piquenard are the Superintendents of the building.

The authorities of Sangamon county have purchased the present State House for the sum of $250,000, and will take possession of the same as a Court House, as soon as the new Capitol is ready for occupation for the State government.

BOARD OF PUBLIC CHARITIES.

The Board of Commissioners of Public Charities, created by an act of the legislature, approved April 9, 1869, is required to visit all the Public Institutions of the State twice in each year, and authorized to visit them at discretion. It is also required to visit once in each year, all the alms-houses in the State, or other places where the insane may be confined, and to report the result of such inspection, annually, to the Governor. It is also authorized and required to prepare and present to the Governor an estimate of the appropriations necessary for each, at each session of the legislature. It has power to examine records and accounts, and to take sworn testimony.

The general aim of the board is, to secure simplicity, unity, economy and efficiency, in the administration of the public charities of Illinois, and to elevate them to the dignity of a department of the State government; also, to become thoroughly familiar with the general subject of dependence, its forms, its extent, its causes, its cure, the means of prevention, and the relations which ought to exist between governments and the dependent classes; the history of public charity, and the systems and methods of relief practiced in other states and nations, with the results attained in each.

Board and Officers.—Elmer Baldwin, President, Farm Ridge, LaSalle county; George S. Robinson, Sycamore, DeKalb county; Z. B. Lawson, Chesterfield, Macoupin county; Selden M. Church, Rockford, Winnebago county; John N. McCord, M. D., Vandalia, Fayette co.; Fred. H. Wines, Springfield, Secretary.

On the 1st December, 1860, the bonded debt of the State amounted to $10,277,161 36. This was increased by the war loan of July, 1861, to $12,327,161 36. By the 1st December, 1866, the bonded debt had been reduced to $8,638,252 21. By the 1st December, 1868, said debt was reduced to $5,989,158 51. During the past fiscal year, ending November 30, 1869, it has been reduced $864,162 87, leaving the bonded debt of the State $5,124,995 64, on the 1st December, 1869, and made up of the following items.

New internal improvement stock, payable after 1870.....	$1,707,811 20

Total debt outstanding Nov. 30, 1866..... $5,124,995 64

The following article relative to the State debt is copied from the Auditor's Report:

In view of the gratifying results shown by the following figures, they are presented for the information of our citizens generally, who without doubt will be pleased to see the figures showing the speedy final extinction of our State debt and consequent exemption from State taxation on account thereof:

Bonded debt falling due after 1869.....	$67,000 00
“ “ 1870.....	3,142,633 41
“ “ 1876.....	60,000 00
“ “ 1877.....	1,270,426 23
“ “ 1879.....	564,800 00
Amount not yet presented, called in by Governor's proclamation.....	20,136 00

Total.....	$5,124,995 64
State debt fund in treasury, Nov. 30, 1869.....	$1,114,153 67
Central Railroad fund in treasury, Nov. 30, 1869.....	296,949 36
Second installment, 1869, from Central Railroad, not yet paid, estimated.....	250,000 00
Estimated receipts from two mill tax on assessment, 1869, and former years.....	950,000 00
Estimated receipts from Central Railroad, for 1870.....	450,000 00
Estimated amount that will be received to Jan. 1, 1871.....	$3,061,103 03
Estimated receipts from two mill tax on assessment 1870, by July 1, 1871.....	950,000 00
Estimated receipts from Central Railroad, first installment for 1871, by July 1, 1871.....	200,000 00
Estimated receipts to July 1, 1871.....	$4,211,103 03
Estimated receipts from Central Railroad for two and a half years to January 1, 1874.....	1,100,000 00
	$5,311,103 03

From the above it will be seen that $67,000 (called in by Governor's proclamation dated November 23, 1869) falls due after 1869, and $3,142,633 41 after 1870, at the pleasure of the State. For the payment of the last named amount there will be about three million dollars in the treasury on the 1st January, 1871, and it will be but a short time thereafter that a sufficient sum will be paid into the treasury on account of the two mill tax on assessment of 1870, to meet the amount of bonds falling due after 1870. This takes up all the debt that can be reached until after 1876, long before which time (by January 1, 1874) the Illinois Central railroad fund will have accumulated in the treasury a sufficiency to meet the debt as it falls due.

It will thus be seen that after one more levy of the two mill tax, the Illinois Central railroad fund will produce a sufficient sum to pay off the principal of the debt, as well as to pay the interest thereon, after July 1, 1871.

I have made no estimate for premium on gold necessary to pay a portion of the indebtedness, the surplus in my estimates being ample for that purpose. Neither have I taken into consideration the amount probable to be paid from the earnings of the Illinois and Michigan canal, applicable to the payment of the registered canal debt, said registered debt being included in the amount of debt, as given in the above statement.

THE STATE LIBRARY.

This institution has only lately been newly renovated. A large number of duplicates of law books have been removed to the basement of the State House in order to make room for new additions. In a short time, a large number of miscellaneous works of the most interesting and valuable kind will be added, which were selected by the State Library Commission (Governor, Secretary of State, and Superintendent of Public Instruction), and which will be paid for with the appropriation of $6,000 made by the 26th General Assembly. By request of the present Secretary of State, the different States have kindly furnished this State with all their laws, reports, and publications not heretofore contained in the State Library.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY OF THE STATE.

This work was authorized by an act of the Legislature passed in February, 1851, providing for the appointment by the Governor of a competent geologist to take charge of the work, and appropriating the sum of three thousand dollars per annum to defray the expenses of the survey.

Dr. J. G. Norwood, of Madison, Indiana, was selected as chief of the survey, and remained in charge of the work up to the 22d of March, 1858. During this time a pamphlet report of ninety-three pages, entitled "An Analysis of Coals," was published.

In 1853, the amount of the annual appropriation was increased to five thousand dollars per annum, with an additional appropriation of five hundred dollars per annum for topographical work.

On the 22d of March, 1858, Prof. A. H. Worthen (the present State Geologist) of Warsaw, Ill., was commissioned by Gov. Bissell to take charge of the Geological Survey, and in 1866 the two first volumes of his report were published, embracing over one thousand pages of printed matter, and illustrated with maps, sections, etc., and fifty plates of fossils. Two years later (in 1868), the third volume was published, embracing nearly six hundred pages of printed matter, together with six plates finely executed on steel, illustrating some of the most interesting scenery in the State, and twenty plates of fossils. The publication of the fourth volume was provided for by the last General Assembly, and is expected to appear in a short time. These volumes have been highly commended by the best scientific authorities, both in this country and Europe, and will impart much practical, as well as scientific information, to those who desire to become acquainted with the natural resources of the State. It is expected that two more volumes, comprising six in all, will complete the work.

The law organizing the survey required extensive collections to be made during the progress of the work, sufficient to supply a set of duplicate specimens of all common species to each collegiate institution in the State, and over twenty of the colleges in the State have been supplied in accordance with the law. A fine museum room has been provided in the new State House, where the State collection is to be finally deposited, and where it is to remain for all time a free museum of science, for the benefit of the people.

Vote of Illinois for 1869, by Counties and Townships.

The vote given in the following pages is a very light one; in many of the counties, not half the votes given at the last Presidential election were polled, and in some counties not even one-third.

In this list, a few counties are omitted, the returns of the respective Clerks having failed to reach us in time for this publication.

PREVIOUS CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTIONS.

Three State constitutional conventions have already met in this State. The first met at Kaskaskia, and concluded its labors August 26th, 1818. An enabling act had been passed April 18, 1818, and the State was formally admitted with this constitution, by the action of Congress, December 3, 1818. Hon. Jesse B. Thomas presided over this convention, and Wm. C. Greenup was Secretary. The constitution was signed by the following members: John Messenger, Jas. Lemen Jr., George Fisher, Elias Kent Kane, B. Stephenson, Joseph Borough, Abraham Prickett, Michael Jones, Leonard White, Adolphus Fred. Hubbard, Hezekiah West, Wm. McFatrige, Seth Gard, Levi Compton, Willis Hargrave, Wm. McHenry, Caldwell Carnes, Enoch Moore, Samuel Omelveny, Hamlet Furgeson, Conrad Will, James Hall Jr., Jos. Kitchell, Ed. N. Cullom, Thomas Kirkpatrick, Samuel G. Morse, Wm. Echols, John Whiteaker, Andrew Bankson, Isham Harrison, and Thomas Roberts.

The constitution of 1818 remained in force twenty-nine years, when a second constitutional convention was called, which assembled in Springfield, June 7, 1847, and closed its session August 31, following. This convention was presided over by Hon. Newton Cloud, of Morgan county, and consisted of 162 members. It counted among its members a large number of the most prominent men of the State, including Archibald Williams, James W. Singleton (then from Brown county), Henry E. Dummer (now of Jacksonville, who represented Cass county), Uri Manley, Benjamin Bond, Thomas A. Marshall (afterwards Col. Marshall, of Coles) F. C. Sherman, of Cook county, Hezekiah M. Mead, L. E. Worcester, D. M. Woodson, Jesse O. Norton, Zadok Casey, Walter B. Scates, James Knox, John Dement (a member of the convention of 1869 from Lee county), David Davis (not Judge Davis of the United States Court), John M. Palmer (now Governor), Cyrus Edwards, George T. Brown, Hiram Rountree, Anthony Thornton, Wm. Thomas, John D. Whiteside, D. J. Pickney, L. B. Knowlton, Onslow Peters, W. R. Archer (a member of the present convention), W. A. Grimshaw, R. B. Servant, S. A. Hurlbut (now Gen. Hurlbut, Minister to Columbia), N. M. Knapp, W. W. Roman, W. C. Kinney, Charles H. Constable, S. S. Hayes (now of Chicago, and a member of the convention of 1869), from Wabash, Selden M. Church and Robert J. Cross (the latter also a member of the present convention. The delegates from Sangamon county were Stephen T. Logan, N. W. Edwards, James H. Matheny, and John Dawson. The constitution framed by this convention was submitted to a vote of the people at an election held on the first Monday of March, 1848, and ratified by a large majority.

The third State constitutional convention was chosen under an act of the legislature of 1861, at the election in November following, met in Springfield, January 7, 1862, and adjourned sine die March 24, 1862. It consisted of 75 members, of whom 45 were classed as democrats, 10 Union democrats, and 20 republicans. Hon. W. A. Hacker was President. Among its leading members were J. W. Singleton, Ex-Gov. A. C. French, J. B. Underwood, S. A. Buckmaster, Anthony Thornton, O. B. Ficklin, H. M. Vandever, B. S. Edwards, Alexander Starne, L. W. Ross, Julius Manning, N. H. Purple, John Dement, John Wentworth, E. Anthony, H. C. Childs, A. J. Joslyn, Melville W. Fuller, etc. The constitution framed at this time was submitted to a vote of the people on the Tuesday after the third Monday of June, 1862, and rejected by the following vote :

Against the constitution.....	141,113
For the constitution.....	125,052
Majority against constitution.....	16,061

One member of the convention of 1869, Hon. John Dement, of Lee, was a member of the conventions both of 1847 and 1862; three others were members of the convention of 1847—viz: W. R. Archer, of Pike: R. J. Cross, of Winnebago; and S. S. Hayes, of Cook: and five others were members of the convention of 1862—viz: W. J. Allen of the 1st District, G. W. Wall of the 8th, R. P. Hanna of the 10th, L. W. Ross of the 35th, and Elliott Anthony of the 61st.

LAWS OF ILLINOIS,

OF A GENERAL NATURE, PASSED IN 1869.

Unclaimed Baggage.

Authorizing Railroad Companies to sell, at public auction, any personal baggage, bundles and luggage, transported to any point in this State, or any lost or stray baggage, which shall for three months remain unclaimed at the place to which the same is or shall be directed. This law also applies to all steamboats and transportation companies.

Protection of Consignors of Fruit, Grain, Flour, &c.

Providing that if any warehousemen, storage, forwarding or commission merchant, their agents, clerks, or employees, convert to their own use the proceeds or profits arising from the sale of any fruits, grain, flour, beef, pork, or any other goods, wares or merchandise, otherwise than as instructed by the consignor of said goods, and shall fail to deliver over the proceeds or profits of said goods, after deducting the usual per cent. on sales as commissions, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and any person found guilty of retaining or embezzling any money prohibited by this law, not exceeding $100, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500, or three months' imprisonment in county jail, or both, and be liable in double the amount of damages to the parties injured. For embezzling greater sums than $100, a heavier fine is provided for.

Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Providing that whoever shall overdrive, overload, overwork, torture, torment, deprive of necessary sustenance, cruelly beat, mutilate or kill (or cause this to be done) any horse, ox or other animal, and whoever, having charge or custody of such animal, shall fail to provide such animal with proper food and shelter, shall be punished by a fine not less than $50 and not more than $100. Any person having charge of an old, maimed, disabled or diseased horse, mule, or other animal, who shall cruelly work the same when unfit for work, is subject to the same fine; also persons who shall carry in or upon any vehicle or otherwise any animal in an unnecessarily cruel manner. If any sick or disabled animal shall be abandoned to die by any person, such person is also fined as above.

Any person who shall keep or use, or in any way be connected with any place kept or used for the purpose of fighting or baiting any bull, bear, dog, cock or other creature, is also fined as above.

Fair Grounds.

Providing that any person trespassing upon any county fair grounds, or committing depredations upon the property of any agricultural society, by cutting and destroying timber, removing, taking, carrying away or breaking any boxes, troughs, stalls, benches, fences, locks, doors, inclosures, gate, &c., whether inside or out of their inclosures, shall be fined in any sum not less than $50.

Public Libraries.

Providing that the property of public or circulating libraries shall be exempt from State, county, and municipal taxation: Provided, that this exemption shall not apply to any property which is in any way used as a source of profit to the owners or stockholders of such library. Any library shall be deemed a public one, which is kept open for the use of the public, free or by subscription.

Married Women.

Providing that a married woman shall be entitled to receive, use, and possess her own earnings, and sue for the same in her own name, free from the interference of her husband or his creditors: Provided, this law shall not be construed to give to the wife any right to compensation for any labor performed for her minor children or husband.

Stealing Newspapers.

Providing that every person who shall unlawfully and feloniously steal, take, and carry away any newspaper or periodical from the place where the same may be left for any other person or corporation, shall be deemed guilty of larceny and punished accordingly.

Notaries Public.

Providing that Notaries Public must reside in the respective cities, towns or counties for which they shall be or have been appointed, but may execute the duties of their office at any place within the State. Any person who, having been commissioned a Notary Public in and for any city, town, or county, who has or shall remove his residence therefrom, shall be held to have vacated his office, and shall not thereafter exercise the same; and any such person who shall, thereafter, attempt to execute the duties of such office shall be subject to a fine of $100 for each offense.

Pecan Timber.

Providing that every person who shall, willfully, cut, box, fell, bore, or destroy any pecan tree, growing upon the land of any person or corporation, without the license or consent of the owner of such land, shall be subject to a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100.

Prize Fighting.

Providing that any person who shall send any challenge to fight what is commonly known as a prize fight, or shall accept such challenge, or who shall engage in such prize fight, or go into training preparatory to such fight, or participating as aider, backer, trainer, second, surgeon, or reporter at such fight, shall be confined in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than ten years.

ILLINOIS GAME LAW.

The general game law of this State, as passed in 1865, with its amendments, provides the following:

It shall be unlawful for any person to kill, trap, net, or ensnare any deer, fawn, wild turkey, grouse, prairie hen or chicken, or quail, between the 1st of January and the 15th of August; any woodcock between the 1st of January and the 1st of July, or any wild duck, goose, or brant between the 15th of April and the 15th of August in each year.

It shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to buy, sell, or have in possession any of the before-mentioned animals or birds, between January 1st and August 15th in each year, at any time when the killing, trapping, netting, or ensnaring of such animals or birds shall be unlawful, which shall be killed, entrapped, netted, or ensnared contrary to the above provision.

It shall be unlawful for any person to destroy or remove from the nests of any prairie chicken, grouse, or quail, any egg or eggs of any such bird, or for any person to buy, sell, have in possession, or traffic in any such eggs, or willfully to destroy the nests of said birds, under a penalty of $5.

Any person who shall go upon the premises of any person or corporation, with the intention to ensnare, trap, or net, or be found ensnaring, trapping, or netting any of the before mentioned animals or birds, or be found hunting or killing such animals or birds, at or within the time aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of trespass and fined in the sum of not less than $5 nor more than $20.

Any person who shall willfully violate any of the provisions of this law shall forfeit and pay a fine of $15 for each deer and fawn thus killed, entrapped, ensnared, bought, sold, or held in possession as aforesaid; and the sum of $5 for each and every wild turkey, grouse, prairie hen or chicken, quail, or woodcock thus killed, entrapped, ensnared, netted, bought, sold, or held in possession.

It shall be unlawful for any person to ensnare, trap, or net any quail or Virginia partridge, at any time.

This law applies to all counties, with the exception of Alexander, Brown, Calhoun, Cass, Christian, Crawford, Cumberland, Edwards, Franklin, Gallatin, Greene, Hardin, Jackson, Jasper, Jefferson, Johnson, Lawrence, Massac, Monroe, Shelby, Union, Wabash, Washington, White, and Williamson.

[Amendment of 1867.]—It shall not be lawful, in this State, for any person to shoot, or in any other manner to kill or destroy, entrap, ensnare, or otherwise capture, any of the following description of birds, to-wit: the blue-bird, swallow, martin, musquito-hawk, whip-poor-will, cuckoo, woodpecker, cat-bird, brown-thrasher, red-bird, hanging-bird, rice-bird, sparrow, wren, humming-bird, dove, goldfinch, and mocking-bird. Every person who willfully violates these provisions, or who shall willfully destroy the nest or eggs of any of the birds hereinbefore described, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $5 for each offense.
